3: Assessment Evidence

Assessment Instruments

The assessment instruments included in this assessment pack are all summative assessment instruments and are to be read in conjunction with the formative assessment instruments contained in the learner workbook. Both formative (workbook) and summative assessments are to be retained as part of the learner's portfolio of evidence.

A number of the assessment instruments contained in this assessment are workplace knowledge based questions.

This means that you will arrange with the learner, a time that is suitable, during which the learner will complete each questions.

QUESTION 1: Explain why the customer is a source of revenue for the organization.

The better the customer care given to customers, the more business they will do with your company and the more business the company generates, the more profit it stands to make. This enables the company to pay competitive salaries and therefore makes good business sense to look after customers as a disciplined practice.

Customers are not dependent on you, you are dependent on them as they pay the salaries and without them businesses have to close down and as a result people would lose their jobs.

When customers make purchases or use services and are parting with hard-earned money, they like to be treated properly, irrespective of their gender, age, race, colour or creed, and will otherwise take their business elsewhere if not.

Keep in mind that you are the link between the outside world and your organization and as first impressions are lasting, it is up to you to make your first impression count.

QUESTION 2: Discuss the impact of bad customers relations on the company.

The organization that delivers superior customer service will achieve major benefits in competitive advantage and profitability.

Client/customers are your organization's most important assets and the relationship you have with them will be the benchmark by which your site/company is judged in terms of customer focus and quality of service. Their attitudes towards your site/company will depend on the way in which you treat them.

The lack of caring for your client/customers could result in the site/company not reaching its true potential. Caring about your client/customers can create a competitive and harmonious organization as people like dealing with people who care and this results in the client/customers returning generating repeat business and increased profits.

For every bad service a client/customer experiences he/she will tell at least 5 others, who in turn will tell 5 more and soon resulting in 10 people and more having a bad impression of the site/company, which is 10 potential client/customers lost – a loss of income/ turnover for the site/company and decreased profits.

Site/company employees contribute in specific ways to create an overall positive experience for customers. As an employee, you represent the company's image. If your image is professional and personal, then customers will have this image of the company.

QUESTION 3: Describe 5 guidelines to maintain good customer care.

- ♦ Never show that you are angry or upset when dealing with an angry client/customer. It will make matters worse and you will lose their business.
- ♦ Your client/customers expect reliable and prompt service. If they do not get it from you they will take their business elsewhere. This could jeopardize your job in the organization.
- ♦ Tardiness is not tolerated well by most client/customers; show your respect for them and for their time by always being punctual.
- ♦ Demonstrate high moral values – Don't tell lies, you will lose your integrity and possibly your job by doing so.
- ♦ Create a climate of warmth before client/customers' even approach you.
- ♦ Send out warm and positive signals to each client/customer prior to the start of the interaction.

QUESTION 4: Customers normally expects more than usual!! How would you react to satisfy the customers expectation.

Each client/customer is important and has the following expectations when making use of your organization:

- ♦ Make me feel important
- ♦ Don't lie to me
- ♦ Keep your promises
- ♦ Give me understandable information
- ♦ Be sensitive to my needs
- ♦ Listen to my advice on improving your service or product
- ♦ Be fair - If I am expected to pay for my service then I expect value for my money
- ♦ Treat me in such a way that I will come back to your site/company
- ♦ Don't underestimate my intelligence, that would be insulting.

QUESTION 5: It is sometimes good to receive feedback from customers or complaints from customers. Discuss this statement by providing possible advantages of receiving feedback from customer complaints.

Customer complaints offer you an opportunity to rectify a situation resulting in prevention of further complaints and continuous improvement of service. You should react and respond to all complaints to make sure you never receive the same complaint twice. Always endeavor to identify and work to eliminate the cause of the complaint.

Dealing effectively with complaints can result in:

- ♦ Elimination of product or service defects.
- ♦ Improved operating procedures.
- ♦ More skillful customer service behaviour.
- ♦ Higher performance standards.
- ♦ Complaints and customer feedback forces problems out into the open and people have to examine them and work towards a solution.
- ♦ It enables client/customers, as well as the site/company to state their goals and perhaps achieve them.

QUESTION 6: CASE STUDY:

Read the case study and discuss the most suitable method to deal with the situation. Also discuss at least two other methods that can be used during a conflict situation with a customer.

The sound of thunder and bright flashes in the sky may have been a wonderful spectacle last night, but what I didn't realize was that it would cause one of the worst days of my life. I did not know about the power failure at three this morning because I was fast asleep. The first time I realized that my alarm did not go off, was at  $\frac{1}{4}$  past five this morning – which meant that I was going to be late for work. I rushed while getting dressed and did not have time to iron my uniform because I had to run to get the last taxi. In my haste I forgot to put my pocket book in my pocket, and I could not find my shoes, so I wore takies instead.

I actually made it to work, only 7 minutes late. My co-worker that had just finished night shift was not very impressed with me because he still had to do the handover. He was going to miss his taxi and would have to wait at least  $\frac{1}{2}$  hour for the next one. Because I felt guilty about coming late, I told him to go – I would read the OB to get the details of the night shift....

It looked like things were eventually settling down to a normal, boring working day. Cars stop, "morning sir", "who are you visiting sir", "that would be at block C – second building on the left", "have a nice day sir". The same thing, over and over. Sometimes I feel like a tape recorder. Cars come, cars go.

In the mean time I'm still a bit unsettled from all the rushing around this morning and tired from lack of sleep because I had to settle the kids down who were crying because they're scared of the thunder and lightning.

Then the blue BMW stops at the gate. He hoots. So I wasn't quite as observant as I am supposed to be – I am tired, you know. I paste my smile on my face and walk up to the driver's window.

I get as far as saying: "Good morning, Sir."

"Good? – good???; so what's good about it?"

"Where is Mr. Brown? It's ten past nine. These $%# taxis! They caused an accident that has made me late! Open this #%^ boom!"

"Sir", I say, "I have to search your vehicle before you enter." And I think to myself that this guy is so rude - I haven't done anything to him!

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

"Never mind about my boot, open this gate, you $|%&*@& "%&*(%$(%*$*0%)@*"

By now I'm getting very upset. Who does he think he is to swear at me and call me names? I'll show him....

"Sir, please get out of your vehicle and open the boot. I will not let you pass until I have searched your vehicle!" I tell him.

"Yes, you *%(%^(%#*% - I'll get out" - he swears at me again. Now he's done it. There's no way that someone insults my mother like that and gets away with it. I will search every inch of his car, and today is the day that he will not pass my boom.

He gets out of the car, and that's the last thing I remember before I see my supervisor's face and feel him shaking me. I am lying on the ground, and the boom is pointing up into the sky with blue BMW paint all over it. My jaw hurts like hell...

In the OB was an entry about a man in a blue BMW that had been causing trouble trying to gain entry during the night shift...
