HOW THIS LEARNER WORKBOOK IS COMPILED

This Unit Standard will lead learners to acquire knowledge and skill to effectively manage risks arising from trauma and loss in themselves or others. It could be useful for peer counselors, community counselors and managers to understand the debriefing process and to know to refer individuals who have experienced a traumatic event.

A manager in the context of this Unit Standard is the manager of a small business and first line managers of business units, team leaders and supervisors in medium and large organizations. The term business unit implies a small business, cost centre, section or department.

The Unit Standard was developed as a means of contributing to change in leadership focus and empowering managers to look at people issues.

The qualifying learner is capable of:

- ◆ Recognizing reactions to post trauma stress.
- ◆ Explaining trauma debriefing and the referral process.
- ◆ Explaining possible support strategies.

You have to study the content and guidelines given in your learner reference guide to complete this workbook.

Remember that this completed workbook must be handed in as it will form part of your formative assessment and will play a role in awarding you the required credits that are to be achieved upon completion of this module.

Write neatly and legibly and ensure that you do not simply copy the information contained in the learner reference guide into your workbook. Give your own opinion and ideas where applicable and write the answers in your own words to indicate your level of understanding and learning.

Good luck with the completion of this workbook.

LEARNING UNIT 1

Stress

LEARNING OUTCOMES

A learning credited with this unit will be able to:

- ♦ Define the concept trauma by motivating it with examples.
- ♦ Explain the meaning of post traumatic stress.
- ♦ Identify the symptoms of the basic categories of post trauma stress.

SHORT QUESTIONS

1. Describe in your own words the meaning of the word “Trauma” (page 13)

Trauma is an extremely subjective experience. What may be traumatic for one person may barely affect another.

2. Name 2 (two) different types of trauma. (page 13)

In a general sense though, trauma results when you experience excessive stress that overwhelms your emotional or physical ability to cope.

While emotional trauma can result in the absence of any physical trauma, many times the two go hand-in-hand.

3. What does PTSD stand for and explain the meaning of same. (page 13)

Post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is an anxiety disorder that can develop after exposure to one or more terrifying events in which grave physical harm occurred or was threatened.

It is a severe and ongoing emotional reaction to an extreme psychological trauma.

4. What are the 3 (three) main types of PTSD symptoms? (page 14)

Symptoms can arise suddenly, gradually, or come and go over time. There are three main types of PTSD symptoms:

- ♦ Re-experiencing the traumatic event
- ♦ Avoiding reminders of the trauma
- ♦ Symptoms of hyperarousal or heightened anxiety.

5. PTSD may be re-experienced in different ways. Name 3 (three) ways in which this may occur. (page 14)

The most disruptive symptoms of PTSD involve the.....

- ♦ Flashbacks
- ♦ Nightmares
- ♦ and intrusive memories of the traumatic event.

6. Give an example of PTSD Triggers in the following scenarios: (page 15)

- ♦ For a combat veteran: The sound of a helicopter or firecrackers.
- ♦ For a rape victim: The sight of a person suddenly appearing around the corner.

7. Give 3 (three) examples of symptoms of avoidance that are prominent in PTSD. (page 16)

Symptoms of avoidance include:

- ♦ Avoiding thoughts, feelings, or conversations associated with the trauma.
- ♦ Avoiding activities, places, or people that remind you of the trauma.
- ♦ Inability to remember important aspects of the trauma.
- ♦ Loss of interest in activities and life in general.
- ♦ Feeling detached or estranged from other people.
- ♦ Feeling emotionally numb, especially toward loved ones.
- ♦ Sense of a limited future (you don't expect to live a normal life span, get married, have a career)

8. Give an example of a PTSD symptom of increased arousal and anxiety: (page 16)

The PTSD symptoms of increased arousal and anxiety include:

- ♦ Difficulty falling or staying asleep
- ♦ Irritability or outbursts of anger
- ♦ Difficulty concentrating
- ♦ Hypervigilance, or being constantly "on guard"
- ♦ An exaggerated startle response, or jumpiness

LEARNER ACTIVITY 2

SHORT QUESTIONS

1. Briefly discuss the 'Releasing Process' in Trauma Debriefing. (page 30)

During the releasing process after the recounting, the patient releases the emotions engendered or evoked as a result of the current specific trauma experienced. The focus is on the subjective or affective consideration of the trauma experienced. The process can reveal a predominant emotion or affect, or a number of them. The emotions may change from one to the other, in no particular order or sequence. It is important to allow the patient to identify and consider the emotions that have been or are being experienced.

The releasing sub-phase will usually require the longest time allocation, as sufficient time must be allowed for the patient to fully deal with the prevalent emotions and for their effect on the patient to be exhausted.

2. What is the difference between 'Trauma Counseling' and 'Trauma Debriefing'? (page 31)

Debriefing is not counseling or therapy nor is it a substitute for counseling or therapy. Whilst using some of the basic communication skills used in counseling, it is very different both in content and style from counseling.

Firstly, the debriefing is highly structured with the debriefer guiding you through a series of stages, looking at the traumatic event from different perspectives.

Debriefing usually stands alone as a single psychological crisis intervention and is not part of ongoing therapy. Where deemed necessary or appropriate, follow-up sessions may be suggested by your trauma debriefer.

3. What are the healing effects of Trauma Debriefing? (page 32)

- ♦ It re-establishes hope: You realize that your feelings are normal and temporary, and that in time, you will become your old self again.
- ♦ It establishes universality: It is a normal phenomenon that people are touched by trauma.
- ♦ It provides ventilation and catharsis: Group cohesion is healing, there is a common goal of finding a safe harbor.
- ♦ It provides information: Which will improve the healing process.

4. Explain the process to be followed after a work-related violent or traumatic incident. (page 35)

The process following a work-related violent or traumatic incident is as follows:

- ♦ The victim(s) or the first person to assist at the scene will notify campus protection services.
- ♦ Internal security services will notify a member(s) of the immediate response support team (IRST). Should the event warrant immediate response eg. medical emergency, campus protection services will initiate the action needed.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) offer support, assess the situation, contain the trauma victims and/or witnesses, and refer them for appropriate post-event professional counseling.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) will accompany the person(s) to official bodies such as security services, SAPS (to report a crime), trauma unit or trauma clinic
- ♦ Once all official activities are completed, the IRST member must ensure that the victim is not abandoned. The victim should be accompanied home or to a place where the victim feels safe.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) will keep in contact and provide support to the affected people until the case is closed.
- ♦ For all cases, an incident report (on an annexure 2 form) should be filled in by the H and S representative.
- ♦ Following each incident, a risk analysis will be conducted together with appropriate and reasonable follow-up action, provided by risk management.
- ♦ If appropriate, eg. in the case of an injury or event meeting the COIDA criteria, a COIDA case will be opened.

5. Briefly explain the COIDA process: (page 35)

- ⇒ An employee accident report (WCL2) is to be filled in by the relevant H and S representative and line manager. If this cannot be completed at the time of the event, it may be executed retrospectively and processed as a standard COIDA process.
- ⇒ The victim(s) will be referred to a medical practitioner/trauma unit for assessment and treatment, and a first medical report will be completed by the treating professional practitioner. Should the medical practitioner deem it necessary, the victim(s) will be referred for post-traumatic counselling.
- ⇒ The victim(s) will have to be referred to a post traumatic counselling facility accepted by COIDA (a psychologist or GP trained in post traumatic counselling).
- ♦ If appropriate, eg. no physical injury, the victim will be referred by the IRST member to the trauma clinic and the organisational health medical practitioner will complete the first medical report retrospectively.
- ⇒ On a case to case basis, either the criteria for COIDA acceptance will be applied or the medical advisor of COIDA will be consulted, in order to ascertain whether the case is eligible for submission to COIDA have to be submitted to COIDA.

6. What requirements must be met by the Specialist who supports the Trauma Response Team? (page 37)

Specialists who support the trauma response team will

- ♦ Be registered with the Health Professions Council of South Africa.
- ♦ Provide 24-hour cover.
- ♦ Be in reasonable proximity to the company premises.
- ♦ Operate throughout the year, including vacation times.
- ♦ Have access to a network that can provide support in case of a mass incident.

7. What is 'Psychoanalysis'? (page 37)

A deeper process that looks at why the trauma made such a difference to the individual. This can be effective since some people appear to be traumatized by events that others shrug off. This is due to us all having different formative experiences that combine to make us who we are. Thus different things cause stress for different people. By understanding and treating deeper issues good progress can be achieved.

8. When assisting employees who returns to work, one needs to understand the most common causes of work related difficulties and the process involved. Briefly discuss. (page 39)

Most common causes of work-related difficulties:

- ♦ Hypervigilance
- ♦ Site is a trigger and causes an increase in symptoms
- ♦ Secondary injury from employer causing anger and resentment, lack of motivation to return to work
- ♦ Questions and other reminders originating from co-workers, customers, others
- ♦ Memory difficulties, other trauma related symptoms

LEARNER ACTIVITY 2*SHORT QUESTIONS*1. What is the difference between an “Appendix” and an “Annexure”? (page 51)

The difference between an annexure and an appendix is.....

An annexure is a document without which the report would be incomplete, for example Annexure to an indictment.

An appendix is an explanatory document with which the original writing would, in any case, be complete viz a map of the surroundings.

2. What guidelines can be followed when writing a Report? (page 49)

Preparation. Before putting pen to paper on a statement form you should have already obtained sufficient detail from your deponent to ensure that you know what you are going to write. Do not forget that wherever you decide to write the statement, it is far better to choose the place where you will have the least interruptions.

3. What does it mean when a person is “Objective” when writing a Report? (page 48)

To be objective means one must not be influenced by one's own emotions or prejudices. Personal feelings and prejudices of the reporter must not be reflected in the report.

The reader can easily be misled by the contents of a report if the reporter's reasoning was dominated by his emotions whilst writing the report.

LEARNER ACTIVITY 3

The definition of a report in your Learning guide does not address the attached example of a report.

(Own address)
SL LEGAU
SECURITY TEAM LEADER
EMI MINING CC.
LOSS CONTROL DEPARTMENT

(Date must always be included)12/05/2005

(Report Addresses to)

MR V KHETANI
REGIONAL MANAGER
EMI MINING CC.
PARKTOWN

An address always contains the following detail:

1. Name and surname
2. Title and/or Rank
3. Place, area or company where employed

HEADING:

Each report must have a heading that gives a brief descriptive explanation of the report that is to follow. A heading normally does not consist of more than 3 to 4 words that can be supported by a date, serial no., etc. Following are a few examples:

Fence irregularity
Keys left in vehicle
Defective access control system
Hole in roof

INTRODUCTION

Before starting to write the report it will be necessary to give basic background information as to the relevance of the report that is to follow. Such an introduction may even consist of a reference to a previous report. It may sometimes be necessary to give a brief explanation on the action that is to be reported. Following is an example:

A report was submitted by me on 21/08/96 in which I indicated that there is a hole in the fence at the northern side of the factory. Similar reports was lodged on 27/08/96, 06/09/96. Whilst patrolling the fence on 21/09/96 I found that the it has as yet not been repaired, etc.

BODY

A heading is also to be used to indicate that the actual report is going to follow. The writer must ensure that all the information and detail previously explained in this module is contained in the report. It is sometimes necessary to include a possible solution as to what is expected.

CONSEQUENCES/MOTIVATION

Following the description of the incident it may sometimes be necessary to express your concern as to what the consequences of such an incident may be. This part of the request may also include a motivation with regards to the report that was submitted. In general it can be said that this section is the part where you are going to support whatever was reported and/or suggested.

SUMMARY

All the facts are briefly summarised and the writer normally asks for feedback, follow up, etc, in this section.
