- ♦ Ensure that you have familiarized yourself with the following:
 - ⇒ The definition of trauma and stress
 - ⇒ The difference between trauma and stress
 - ⇒ The identification of trauma and stress (symptoms)
 - ⇒ The process of debriefing
 - ⇒ Trauma help lines and organizations who can assist in then management of it.

Step 2: Complete the Assessment

- ♦ Collect the evidence in accordance with the methods and evidence requirements specified.
- ♦ Mark each question as correct or incorrect in the “Office Use” column.
- ♦ Record the evidence on the assessment guide and indicate “Competent”, “Not Yet Competent” or “Not Assessed” for each assessment criterion. Note down any comments at the back of the assessment guide.
- ♦ Ask the learner additional questions, if necessary, to clarify points. Record these on the guide.
- ♦ All questions must be complete as per the criteria specified.
- ♦ Answers provided must be similar to the model answers.

Step 3 - After the Assessment

- ♦ Prepare the feedback by writing comprehensive, developmental feedback after each section on the Assignment Sheets. In addition to this, you are required to write a summary overall feedback on the Assessment Guide.
- ♦ Provide the feedback to the learner in a safe, undisturbed in nature.
- ♦ Ensure that your feedback is developmental and supportive in nature.
- ♦ Advise the learner on what action to follow in the event of a “Not Yet Competent” rating.
- ♦ Advise the learner on what action to take where he/she feels the need to appeal against your decision.
- ♦ Allow the learner time to provide you with feedback relevant to the process.
- ♦ Record the learner’s feedback in the guide and ensure that it is given to the person responsible for the quality assurance of assessment tools.
- ♦ Ensure that the learner co-signs the assessment guide to indicate agreement with the feedback.

3. Assessment documentation required:

Step 1: Planning for the Assessment

Question 6: What is the difference between 'Trauma Counseling' and 'Trauma Debriefing'?

Debriefing is not counseling or therapy nor is it a substitute for counseling or therapy. Whilst using some of the basic communication skills used in counseling, it is very different both in content and style from counseling.

Firstly, the debriefing is highly structured with the debriefer guiding you through a series of stages, looking at the traumatic event from different perspectives.

Debriefing usually stands alone as a single psychological crisis intervention and is not part of ongoing therapy. Where deemed necessary or appropriate, follow-up sessions may be suggested by your trauma debriefer.

Question 7: Explain the process to be followed after a work-related violent or traumatic incident.

The process following a work-related violent or traumatic incident is as follows:

- ♦ The victim(s) or the first person to assist at the scene will notify campus protection services.
- ♦ Internal security services will notify a member(s) of the immediate response support team (IRST). Should the event warrant immediate response eg. medical emergency, campus protection services will initiate the action needed.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) offer support, assess the situation, contain the trauma victims and/or witnesses, and refer them for appropriate post-event professional counseling.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) will accompany the person(s) to official bodies such as security services, SAPS (to report a crime), trauma unit or trauma clinic
- ♦ Once all official activities are completed, the IRST member must ensure that the victim is not abandoned. The victim should be accompanied home or to a place where the victim feels safe.
- ♦ The immediate response support team member(s) will keep in contact and provide support to the affected people until the case is closed.
- ♦ For all cases, an incident report (on an annexure 2 form) should be filled in by the H and S representative.
- ♦ Following each incident, a risk analysis will be conducted together with appropriate and reasonable follow-up action, provided by risk management.
- ♦ If appropriate, eg. in the case of an injury or event meeting the COIDA criteria, a COIDA case will be opened.
