Scenario

Mrs. Ndlovu runs a business called Thandi's Interiors. It is an interior decorating business with African flair, specializing in a South African ethnic look. She operates out of a shop in Durban's Florida Road.

As an initiative to uplift rural women from KwaZulu-Natal Mrs Ndlovu has employed 50 women from Mtubatuba to do specific beading work for her which she sells in her shop. This range has proved to be highly successful. Initially she would travel up monthly herself to transport back the beaded work but the demand is such that in May 2006 she engaged the services of a courier company to transport the beaded items weekly.

Mrs. Ndlovu approached several courier services and decided to give her business to Fast Fleet Courier Services as they were most competitive in terms of collecting goods from outlying areas.

Everything ran smoothly for 5 months but then one week the delivery was not made. The couriers usually arrived at Thandi's Interiors at 3:30pm every Thursday with the weekly delivery. On Friday morning (3 November 2006), Mrs Ndlovu made inquiries with the woman in charge of the beading operation who confirmed that the weekly consignment of beaded items had been fetched as usual at 11:00am on Thursday 2 November 2006.

Mrs Ndlovu then phoned Fast Fleet Courier Services to query the non-delivery. Customer Care at Fast Fleet Courier Services promised to look into the matter and get back to her. By Wednesday 8 November Mrs Ndlovu had not yet heard from anyone at Fast Fleet and was put on hold every time she tried to phone to enquire. Frustrated by the lack of customer service, Mrs Ndlovu decided not to pay her October account which was due. She eventually managed to ascertain that the person she had originally placed the query with was on sick leave. She cancelled her contract and refused to pay her October account.

Question 3: The 2010 Soccer World Cup

The 2010 Soccer World Cup being hosted in South Africa will have an impact on the security industry, in terms of thousands of visitors in our country - travelling, sightseeing and attending matches.

In your group, come up with an innovative business idea in the security sector relating to the 2010 Soccer World Cup. This should be something realistic, manageable and practical - something your group could really implement.

In order to come up with a workable idea, you need to do some research:

In your group:

1. Ensure each member has a task.
2. Plan and sequence research steps.

1. Gather information

- ♦ use a wide range of materials to gather information
- ♦ use materials effectively e.g. index, content page, etc.
- ♦ clarify technical language if necessary
- ♦ interview people to ascertain views etc.

2. Individuals in group give feedback

- ♦ summarise findings
- ♦ confirm accuracy of information
- ♦ decide on relevance of information
- ♦ classify/categorise and sort information

3. Brainstorm to come up with a good idea

- ♦ Everyone in the group must agree with the business idea (there must be consensus) meeting procedure can be followed in order to meet the objective of deciding on idea/plan

Guidelines for a business plan:

- ♦ Identify key function / aim
- ♦ Resources required
- ♦ Stakeholders
- ♦ Staffing
- ♦ Capital - profit and loss projection
- ♦ Marketing strategy
- ♦ Logistics / timelines
- ♦ Sustainability
- ♦ Training needs

This research can be used in a presentation at a later date.

Each member of the group must give a 2-minute presentation on an aspect/aspects of the idea/plan. The presentation should however, not seem disjointed, but a combined effort, with members of the group each highlighting certain aspects of the plan.

Your presentation must be well planned.

Use visual aids appropriate to the topic and content to enhance the presentation and to aid understanding.

Cue cards are useful in presentations.

At the end of each group's presentation, there will be an opportunity for members of other groups to ask relevant questions, which should be responded to effectively.
