1. Introduction

This learning program is part of a complete qualification. For more details concerning the complete qualification please contact your service provider or alternatively the office of the SASSETA

2. Purpose of this learning program

Learners at this level write/present/sign texts with complex subject matter and a need for various levels of formality in language and construction. They select text type, subject matter and language to suit specific audiences, purposes and contexts. Writers/signers can use linguistic structures and features to influence readers/their audience. They draft, redraft and edit own writing/signing to meet the demands of a range of text-types. They use language appropriate to the socio-cultural, learning or workplace/ technical environment as required. They explore presentation techniques as an alternative to writing/signing own texts.

Learners credited with this unit standard are able to:

- Write/sign for a specified audience and purpose
- Use language structures and features to produce coherent and cohesive texts for a wide range of contexts
- Draft own writing/signing and edit to improve clarity and correctness

2.1 Target group

This program is compiled for the following target group:

- Security members
- South African Defense Force members
- South African Police Force members
- Correctional Services
- Individuals who wishes to complete the NQF level 3 National Certificate in security practices.

3. Standards and qualifications

It is important that you as the learner understand and realize that this training program is not presented in isolation, but that it was developed based upon nationally recognized standards known as unit standards.

REMEMBER.....

Unit standards are the “building blocks” of qualifications. All qualifications are plotted on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF).

Unit standards comprises of outcomes. An outcome is a statement that describes the required competency that must be demonstrated by the learner on successful completion of a training intervention.

4. Assessments

In order to assess whether a learner can actually demonstrate the desired outcomes, assessment criteria are included in the unit standard. Each outcome has its own set of assessment criteria.

REMEMBER.....

The assessment criteria describe the evidence that is needed that will show that the learner has demonstrated the outcome correctly.

Kindly refer to the unit standard attached hereto for the assessment criteria.

It is of utmost importance that the learner fully understands the assessment criteria as listed in the unit standard, as it is the only way in which the learner will know what he will be assessed against.

The final or summative assessment is the most important aspect of this training program. It is during this process that the learner will be declared competent or not yet competent.

The learner will know exactly how he will be assessed, and when and where he will be assessed. All of these details must be obtained from the training provider where the learner enrolled for his program.

5. Range statements

REMEMBER.....

Also included in the unit standard are the range statements in support of the assessment criteria.

The range statements indicate detailed requirements of the assessment criteria.

6. The learning guide

The learner guide is included in this material under various learning units. The learner guide has been designed in such a manner that the learner is guided in a logical way through the learning material and requirements of the unit standard.

On completion of this skill program, the learner will be assessed against the assessment criteria as stipulated in the unit standard.

Each of the modules consists of learner outcomes to be achieved during training and development interventions, work related experience or at your own time. The learner outcomes will enable you to achieve the required level of confidence and competence in order to undergo the summative (final evaluations) assessment.

The learner needs to assess his own knowledge and skill throughout the training process by completing the learner workbook. With the completion of the workbook you start collecting evidence to proof your competence. The learner workbook will be assessed (FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT)

TAKE NOTE

The learner guide will remain the property of the learner once the LEARNING PROGRAM has been completed.

TAKE NOTE

- The best results will be obtained if you start with Study Unit 1 in the Learner Guide, and work your way through it, study unit by study unit.
- All learning outcomes are vital and must be studied (and exercised for all practical requirements) thoroughly to ensure that enough evidence for all specific outcomes is generated.

7. Learning assumed to be in place

It is assumed that a learner which registers for this program have completed a program in communication at NQF Level 3 or equivalent.

It is imperative to understand that this program are only one of the building blocks to complete Skills program 1. The complete list of unit standards for Skills program appears on the next page.

8. Preparation of summative assessment

After you have worked through the LEARNER GUIDE and you are satisfied that all theoretical and practical requirements/ evidence, as stipulated by the UNIT STANDARD, can be met, you need to make your own necessary arrangements with the assessor and/or facilitator. The training establishment will then arrange a suitable date for you to attend your pre-assessment meeting and then arrange for a suitable date to complete the final assessment.

8.1 RPL assessment

The assessment of RPL learners will be conducted in the same way as for those of new learners. The assessment pack is exactly the same and will therefore be used for new learners as well as RPL Learners. It must however be noted that learners who are applying for RPL must provide proof of previous learning and subject related experience prior to the assessment.

This proof or evidence can be in the format of certified copies (certificates) of previous learning programs that have been attended.

All the evidence will be assessed and authenticated before a learner will be allowed to enroll for an RPL program.

9. Roles and responsibilities

9.1 Facilitator/instructor

- Prepare to facilitate.
- Transfer of knowledge and skills

9.2 The role of the assessor

- Plan for the assessment
- Prepare the learner for the assessment

9.3 The role of the Learner

- Prepare for assessment.
- Accept the responsibility of learning.
- Accept the responsibility to produce/deliver evidence.

STUDY UNIT 1

Write for a specified audience and purpose

LEARNING OUTCOMES

On completion of this study unit the student will....

- Write a letter to provide information
- Use the prescribed communication process as set out in this guide.
- Describe the communication cycle.
- Gather and collect and analyse information or unpack information using a method called "brainstorming".
- Gather and collect and analyse information or unpack information using a method called "mind-mapping".
- Gather and collect and analyse information or unpack information using a method called "spider diagrams".
- Gather and collect and analyse information or unpack information using a method called "highlighting".
- Explain basic research skill.

IMPORTANT

Why are you writing and who are you writing for?

Why you are writing falls into four general categories:

- to provide information
- to persuade the reader
- to give instructions
- to enact (or prohibit) something

Who you are writing for is determined by your identification of:

- reader type and their level of expertise - i.e. are they experts, managers, technicians or laypersons, as well as a mixed group of readers
- reader's purpose in using the document
- reader's attitude to both you and the content of your document

1. Writing to provide information

There are various styles to use when writing to provide information.

1.1 Narrative

- Purpose is to relate or narrate a series of real or imaginary events:

EXAMPLE:

it tells a story.

- Simple language is usually the most effective.
- Long passages of pure narration are rare - without description or exposition it soon bores the reader.
- Present tense may be used, but be consistent! Use the same tense throughout.

1.2 Reflective

- Writer gives own opinions on a particular topic.
- Writer is seeking not to establish the truth, but to air his/her opinions.

1.3 Descriptive

- Purpose is to paint a clear and distinct picture of the person, place, issue or thing being described.
- Try to avoid over-using 'you' - instead use:

⇒ the passive voice
⇒ a fictitious observer.

1.4 Expository

- ♦ Purpose is to inform the reader.
- ♦ It is an explanation or process that emphasizes well-organised and concise information.
- ♦ Be careful not to show personal feelings.
- ♦ Report the facts as accurately as possible.
- ♦ Ask who?, what?, where?, when?, why? and how?

1.5 Electronic texts

- ♦ purpose is to represent, store or transmit information by electronic systems.
- ♦ transmission of information, messages, facsimiles, etc., from one computer terminal to another.

1.6 Multi-media presentations

- ♦ Purpose is to write presentations to be given as slide shows or presented on the computer
- ♦ Mainly intended as compositions in which you combine illustrations, texts, photo's, etc.
- ♦ Use skills in drawing, graphics and image editing, animation, photography, video and presentations, and the use of the Internet and the Web.

2. Writing to persuade the reader2.1 Discursive

- ♦ Purpose is to argue about a subject.
- ♦ Must give BOTH sides of the argument.
- ♦ Sum up at the end where you may give your own point of view.

2.2 Argumentative

- ♦ primary purpose is to sway the reader to accept your point of view.
- ♦ issue must be arguable.
- ♦ avoid issues that cannot be won.
- ♦ become an expert on the issue.
- ♦ discuss the issue in depth so that the reader will understand the issue fully.
- ♦ writer must take a clear position.
- ♦ tone must be reasonable, professional and trustworthy.

3. Writing to give instructions3.1 Transactional

- ♦ purpose is to get things done: to inform or persuade the reader to understand or do something.
- ♦ takes the form of letters, memos, abstracts, summaries, proposals, reports, and planning documents of all kinds.
- ♦ must be done clearly, correctly, concisely, coherently and carefully.

4. Writing to enact (or prohibit) something4.1 Business correspondence

- ♦ comprises letters, faxes, e-mails, memos, but usually letters.
- ♦ purpose is to introduce yourself and state your objective.
- ♦ try to address it to a particular person by name.
- ♦ should be kept to one page only.
- ♦ should be unique and specific to the individual.
- ♦ remember the aesthetics - no errors, neat, good paper - proofread!
- ♦ opening lines:
 - ♦ to make reference to previous correspondence
 - ♦ to say how you found the recipient's name/address
 - ♦ to say why you are writing to the recipient
- ♦ closing lines:
 - ♦ to make a reference to a future event
 - ♦ to repeat an apology
 - ♦ to offer help

10 good opening lines:

- ♦ With reference to your letter of 8 June, I ...
- ♦ I am writing to enquire about ...
- ♦ After having seen your advertisement in ..., I would like ...
- ♦ After having received your address from ..., I ...
- ♦ I received your address from ... and would like ...
- ♦ We/I recently wrote to you about ...
- ♦ Thank you for your letter of 8 June.
- ♦ Thank you for your letter regarding ...
- ♦ Thank you for your letter/e-mail about ...
- ♦ In reply to your letter of 8 June, ...

10 good closing lines:

- ♦ If you require any further information, feel free to contact me.
- ♦ I look forward to your reply.
- ♦ I look forward to hearing from you.
- ♦ I look forward to seeing you.
- ♦ Please advise as necessary.
- ♦ We look forward to a successful working relationship in the future.
- ♦ Should you need any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.
- ♦ Once again, I apologise for any inconvenience.
- ♦ We hope that we may continue to rely on your valued custom.
- ♦ I would appreciate your immediate attention to this matter.

When 'Yours faithfully' and when 'Yours sincerely' in a business letter:

- ♦ Recipient's name is unknown to you :-
- ♦ Dear Sir / Madam / Sir or Madam Yours faithfully
- ♦ Recipient's name is known to you :-
- ♦ Dear Mr Day / Mrs Day / Miss Day / Ms Day Yours sincerely
- ♦ Addressing a good friend or colleague :-
- ♦ Dear Jack Best wishes / Best regards
- ♦ Addressing whole departments :-
- ♦ Dear Sirs Yours faithfully

Format of a business letter:

No open line between the date and the recipient's address

The Manager
Eskom
P.O. Box 35624
Menlo Park
0102

Dear Sir/Madam/Sir or Madam

Heading compulsory

The introduction must contain briefly the reason for the letter.

The body contains a paragraph or two in formal English. Sufficient facts must support your argument and your style should be concise.

Your conclusion must suggest what action should be taken in the light of your letter. Obviously this depends on the kind of letter.

Yours faithfully

D. Day

Recipient's address in full, starting with their title

12 South Street
Brooklyn
0181
29 February 2008

Skip a line

Skip a line

The topic of your letter must be underlined or written in capital letters

Skip a line

Body of the letter:
skip a line between each paragraph

Salutation has capital 'Y' and

Signature is compulsory

Real name is compulsory

Your own address, blocked not slanted

EXAMPLE:

REMEMBER.....

Whatever writing you do, it should always have an introduction, a body and a conclusion. This is so that the reader immediately knows what he/she is going to read about (introduction), gets all the relevant information (body) and can make sure that he/she has understood correctly and knows what to do (conclusion).

5. Reader type and their level of expertise

- ♦ where are the readers from?
- ♦ are they from within the organisation or from outside?
- ♦ are they from the same socio-cultural group or do they form a mixed group where various sensitivities may be present?
- ♦ are they experts? (do they perhaps know more than you about what you have written?)
- ♦ are they managers? (do they have more power than you? do they also know more than you about what you have written?)
- ♦ are they technicians? (do they have more technical knowledge about what you have written?)
- ♦ are they laypersons? (are they ordinary people who know something, or nothing, about what you have written?)
- ♦ do the readers form a mixed group from all the above?

6. Reader's purpose in using the document

- ♦ do they have to read your work?
- ♦ do they want to read your work?

7. Reader's attitude towards you and the content of the document

- ♦ are they positive or negative towards you?
- ♦ do you hold a higher position?
- ♦ is there some reward in it for them?
- ♦ does it mean more work needs to be done?
- ♦ does it make them feel more positive or more negative?

8. Writer's choice of text-type, style and register

- ♦ How we present and tell depends on the purpose of the written task. At the beginning of this unit we looked at the purpose of a written task - please refer.
- ♦ How we present and tell also depends on the readers that are going to read the written task - please refer to points 5, 6 & 7.

In order for the writer to communicate the message successfully, style, text-types and register need to be well selected.

- ♦ Style is the manner in which a writer addresses a matter, a manner which reveals the writer's personality, or 'voice'.
- ♦ Text-types are used to achieve the above (style). There are ten basic text-types, namely: description; discussion; explanation; exposition; information report; narrative; poetry; procedure; recount and response.
- ♦ Register reflects the situation and determines the most appropriate language. Socio-cultural sensitivities must be kept in mind, so that offensive language is not used. Own values or arguments must, however, not be compromised in doing so.

9. Writing must convey the message clearly

In order to convey a message clearly, you need to understand the communication model.

There are many factors which influence the communication process, all of which impact each other in a variety of ways.

- ♦ Sender - the sender is the speaker/writer. A sender starts with an impulse he or she wishes to express, and then must encode that idea into symbols (words) and signs (facial expressions, tone of voice, etc.).
- ♦ Message - the message is the symbols and signs which are actually transmitted. All messages are carried by a channel (face-to-face, over the phone, email, letter, etc.).

- ♦ Receiver - the receiver is the listener/reader. The receiver must decode the symbols and signs of the message, sent through the channel. Decoding involves working through one's own perceptual filters, to arrive at thoughts which approximate the sender's original intent.
- ♦ Feedback - feedback is the signs the receiver projects while the sender is sending the message. Feedback allows the sender to know how his or her message is being received, and whether the received message is the same as the intended message.
- ♦ Environment - environment is the physical, social and emotional influences (often referred to as 'noise'), the communication takes place in. Environments can place expectations and/or constraints on communication.

10. Critical thinking skills are to be used as strategies for planning

10.1 Brainstorming

Brainstorming is when different people who have a vested interest in the matter, get together and share thoughts and ideas on a specific topic. These thoughts and ideas should not be pre-meditated.

The following guidelines apply to ensure a successful session:

- ♦ write the objective - what you want to accomplish. Distribute it to the attendees, and post it for all to see during the session.
- ♦ invite a mix of contributors/participants. Split large groups into teams to compete.
- ♦ set a time limit :- 30 mins - 4 hrs
- ♦ announce the objective and explain the rules :-
- ♦ weird, wild, wacky and off-the-wall ideas are welcome -> negativity is not
- ♦ build on ideas -> don't shoot them down
- ♦ no interruptions from outside allowed (that includes cell phones!)
- ♦ take a short break every hour
- ♦ capture all ideas as they flow from the group.
- ♦ evaluate the ideas, selecting the best.
- ♦ assign next steps.

EXAMPLE:

10.2 Mind-mapping

DEFINITION

Mind maps are tools which help you think and learn. It involves writing down a central idea/topic and thinking up new and related ideas which radiate out from the centre. By focussing on key ideas written down in your own words, and then looking for branches out and connections between the ideas, you are mapping knowledge in a manner which will help you understand and remember information.

Here are some guidelines to help you do this successfully:

- ♦ put main idea in the centre: most people find it useful to turn their page on the side and do a map in 'landscape' style. With the main idea/topic in the middle of the page, this gives the maximum space for other ideas to radiate out of the centre.
- ♦ draw quickly on unlined paper without pausing, judging or editing it is important to get every possibility into the mind map. There will be plenty of time for modifying the information later on.
- ♦ write down key ideas
- ♦ look for relationships: use lines, colours, arrows, branches or some other way of showing connections between the ideas generated on your mind map
- ♦ leave lots of space: after the initial drawing of the mind map, you may wish to highlight things, add information or add questions.

EXAMPLE:

Here is an example of a mind map:

10.3. Spider diagrams

DEFINITION

Spider diagrams are useful because they allow you to think about the main idea and then how the ideas are seen to be present elsewhere.

EXAMPLE:

10.4 Highlighting

DEFINITION

Highlighting words, sentences or paragraphs enables you to see what is important or relevant in a text at a glance. Take extra care when highlighting not to highlight unnecessary information. Use highlighters that are clearly visible.

EXAMPLE:

New software features

- New, easier-to-use interface
- Quicker output to image file formats
- Better integration with Microsoft® Excel®
- One-click buttons for often-used tasks
- Simplified screens
- Ability to split the screen to see more than one set of data at a time
- Faster saving

11. Research skills

Focus

- ♦ What is my research challenge? Purpose?
- ♦ What are the critical questions?
- ♦ Define the topic statement.
- ♦ Who is my audience?
- ♦ What do I know? What do I need to know?
- ♦ What will my product be?
- ♦ How will I plan my time?

Find and Filter

- ♦ Locate different types of resources. (All formats)
- ♦ Decide which resources might be suitable.
- ♦ Select the most appropriate resources.
- ♦ Do the resources answer your critical questions?
- ♦ Did you find information that points you in another direction?
- ♦ Revise research questions if necessary.

Work with the Information

- ♦ Read, review, listen.
- ♦ Interpret, record, organize.
- ♦ Collect Works Cited information and quotations.
- ♦ Look for patterns. Make connections.
- ♦ Check for understanding.
- ♦ Review, revise, reorganize, and edit.

Communicate

- ♦ Prepare final results.
- ♦ Prepare Works Cited list.
- ♦ Share ideas, findings, and product.
- ♦ Act on findings.

Reflect

- ♦ What did we learn about the topic?
- ♦ How does this new knowledge fit in a wider context?
- ♦ What worked well?
- ♦ What would we do differently next time?
- ♦ What did we learn about research?

[illegible]

STUDY UNIT 2

Produce coherent and cohesive texts

LEARNING OUTCOMES

On completion of this study unit the student will....

- ♦ Analyse the meaning of the text.
- ♦ Analyse a sentence.
- ♦ Explain and define a simple sentence.
- ♦ Use the appropriate guidelines for the text style and layout for the written documentation.
- ♦ Use the appropriate guidelines for the text, style and layout for the written documentation.

For you to be able to produce coherent and cohesive texts, there are certain things you need to do:

- ♦ Make your paragraphs coherent. If necessary, rearrange sentences for better paragraph flow and logic.
- ♦ Use the active voice whenever the passive voice is not clearly more appropriate.
- ♦ Eliminate unnecessary words and phrases.
- ♦ Simplify your sentences. Break long sentences into manageable units.
- ♦ Condense repetitious or closely related material. Look for ways to combine or delete words and sentences that repeat information.
- ♦ Be specific. Replace vague phrases and words with more descriptive ones.
- ♦ Use words accurately. Look for phrases and words that don't stand up to scrutiny.

In order to achieve the above, you need to understand something about the structure of the English language.

The two fundamental parts of every English sentence are the subject and the predicate. A simple sentence can also be described as a group of words expressing a complete thought. Subjects can be described as the component that performs the action described by the Predicate.

A simple sentence or independent clause must have a verb. A verb shows action or state of being. The subject tells who or what about the verb.

1. What makes a complete sentence?

If it helps you, think about a sentence as if it were a skeleton, the skeleton contains various bones and these bones are put together to form different parts of the body. So are sentences formed by words, the words are the bones and they are put together in different ways to form sentences.

1.1 Simple Sentences

DEFINITION

A simple sentence contains a single subject and predicate. It describes only one thing, idea or question, and has only one verb - it contains only an independent (main) clause. Any independent clause can stand alone as a sentence. It has a subject and a verb and expresses a complete thought.

EXAMPLE:

- Jill reads.

Even the addition of adjectives, adverbs, and prepositional phrases to a simple sentence does not change it into a complex sentence.

EXAMPLE:

- The brown dog with the red collar always barks loudly.

Even if you join several nouns with a conjunction, or several verbs with a conjunction, it remains a simple sentence.

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ The dog barked and growled loudly.

Simple sentences and configuration

- ♦ Simple subject and predicate
Example: Fred slept.
- ♦ Understood subject (for commands, directives)
Example: Sit!
- ♦ Questions
Examples: What are you throwing?
- ♦ Interjection
Examples: Man, that hurt!
- ♦ Compound predicate
The bear howled and scratched ferociously.
- ♦ Compound subject and predicate
Fred and Mary worked hard and then rested.
- ♦ Three subjects
John, Fred, and Cameron are working.
- ♦ Direct object
Ted sent the letter.
- ♦ Compound direct objects
Ted sent cards and letters.
- ♦ The cat waited patiently and quietly at the door.
- ♦ Passive Verbs
The ball was kicked.
- ♦ Three direct objects
Ted sent posters, cards, and letters.
- ♦ Compound predicate with direct objects .

- ♦ Jessica cooked lunch and ate it.
- ♦ Compound predicate with one direct object
Sam proofreads and edits his essays.
- ♦ Indirect object
The teacher gave the children homework.
- ♦ Compound indirect objects
The teacher gave Tess and Sam quizzes.
- ♦ Predicate noun
John is a coach.
- ♦ Objective Complement
Johnny painted his front porch white.
- ♦ Direct address
Harold, tell the class now.
- ♦ Adjective
Athletic moves excite the crowd.
- ♦ Compound adjectives
The little old lady hit the tall and distinguished gentleman.
- ♦ Predicate adjective
The engine was powerful.
- ♦ Compound predicate adjectives
The engine was powerful but expensive.
- ♦ Comparative Adjective
Joe is considerably older than his brother.
- ♦ Adverb
Fred works quickly.
- ♦ Adverbs modifying other adverbs
My dog wags its tail quite often.
- ♦ Compound adverbs

1.2 Compound Sentences

DEFINITION

Compound sentences are made up of two or more simple sentences combined using a conjunction such as and, or or but. They are made up of more than one independent clause joined together with a coordinating conjunction.

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ "The sun was setting in the west and the moon was just rising."
- ♦ Each clause can stand alone as a sentence.

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ "The sun was setting in the west. The moon was just rising."

TAKE NOTE

Every clause is like a sentence with a subject and a verb. A coordinating conjunction goes in the middle of the sentence, it is the word that joins the two clauses together, the most common are (and, or, but)

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ I walked to the shops, but my husband drove.
- ♦ I might watch the film, or I might visit my friends.
- ♦ My friend enjoyed the film, but she didn't like the actor.

1.3 Complex Sentences

DEFINITION

Complex sentences describe more than one thing or idea and have more than one verb in them. They are made up of more than one clause, an independent clause (that can stand by itself) and a dependent (subordinate) clause (which cannot stand by itself).

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ "My mother likes dogs that don't bark."
- ♦ Dependent clauses can be nominal, adverbial or adjectival.

2. The anatomy of a sentence

2.1 The Verb

The verb is the fundamental part of the sentence. The rest of the sentence, with the exception of the subject, depends very much on the verb. It is important to have a good knowledge of the forms used after each verb (verb patterns), for example: to tell [someone] TO DO [something]

Here we can see that the verb to tell is followed immediately by a person (the indirect object, explained later), an infinitive with 'to', and, possibly, an object for the verb you substitute for DO.

Verbs also show a state of being. Such verbs, called BE VERBS or LINKING VERBS, include words such as: am, is, are, was, were, be, been, being, became, seem, appear, and sometimes verbs of the senses like tastes, feels, looks, hears, and smells.

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ "Beer and wine are my favourite drinks." The verb "are" is a linking (be) verb.

Fortunately, there are only a limited number of different verb patterns. Verbs can describe the action (something the subject actually does) or state (something that is true of the subject) of the subject.

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ ACTION: I play football twice a week.
- ♦ STATE: I've got a car.

Some verbs can represent both actions and states, depending on the context.

EXAMPLE:

- ACTION: David's working in the bank.
- STATE: David works in a bank.

Finding the Verb

When you analyze a sentence, first identify the verb. The verb names and asserts the action or state of the sentence.

EXAMPLE:

- "Working at the computer all day made David's head ache."

The main verb of the sentence is "made", not working.

Verbs identify our activity or state.

EXAMPLE:

- eat, sleep, run, jump, study, think, digest, shout, walk

2.2 The Subject

DEFINITION

The subject is the person or thing the sentence is 'about'. Often (but not always) it will be the first part of the sentence. The subject will usually be a noun phrase (a noun and the words, such as adjectives, that modify it) followed by a verb.

Finding the Subject

Once you determine the verb, ask a wh...? question of the verb. This will locate the subject(s).

EXAMPLE:

- ◆ David works hard.
- ⇒ Who "works hard"?=David does=the subject.
- ⇒ Beer and wine are my favourite drinks.
- ⇒ What "are my favourite drinks"? Beer and wine are=the subjects.

The subject(s) of a sentence will answer the questions, "who or what."

2.3 The Predicate

Once you have identified the subject, the remainder of the sentence tells us what the subject does or did. This part of the sentence is the predicate of the sentence. The predicate always includes the verb and the words which come after the verb.

EXAMPLE:

- ◆ Michael Schumacher drove the race car.
- ⇒ "Michael Schumacher" is the subject; "drove the race car" is the predicate.

Parts of a sentence	Description
Adjective	Describes things or people.
Adverb	Alters the meaning of the verb slightly
Article	a, an - indefinite articles the - definite articles
Conjunction	Joins words or sentences together
Interjection	A short word showing emotion or feeling
Noun	Names things
Preposition	Relates one thing to another
Pronoun	used instead of a noun to avoid repetition
Proper noun (subject)	The actual names of people or places etc.
Verb	Action or doing word

3. Four Kinds of Sentences

Let's look at four kinds of sentences: declarative, imperative, interrogative, and exclamatory.

- ♦ A declarative sentence makes a statement.

The hockey finals will be broadcast tomorrow.

- ♦ An imperative sentence gives a command or makes a request.

Pass the puck to the open man.

- ♦ An interrogative sentence asks a question

Do you know the rules of hockey?

- ♦ An exclamatory sentence shows strong feeling.

Stop that man!

Declarative, imperative, or interrogative sentences can be made into exclamatory sentences by punctuating them with an exclamation point.

4. Paragraph conventions

Organise writing with a beginning, middle and ending:

- ♦ organize ideas into logical chunks of information (e.g. paragraphs)
- ♦ use transitions to connect episodes, descriptions, explanations or facts (e.g. afterward, later on, in addition, also)
- ♦ describe procedures sequentially (e.g. steps in a scientific experiment)
- ♦ write a variety of beginnings and endings (e.g. begins with an amazing fact or background information; ends with something new to think about or a cliffhanger)
- ♦ organize narratives with an evident problem and solution

A paragraph is a coherent block of text, such as a group of related sentences that develop a single topic or a coherent part of a larger topic.

The beginning of a paragraph is indicated by.....

- ♦ the beginning of the content, that is, the paragraph is the first content in the document, or
- ♦ exactly one blank line preceding the paragraph text

The end of a paragraph is indicated by

- ♦ the end of the content, that is, the paragraph is the last content in the document, or
- ♦ one or more blank lines following the paragraph text

A paragraph should:

- ♦ have a topic sentence:

DEFINITION

a topic sentence is a sentence whose main idea controls the rest of the paragraph and is usually the first sentence of the paragraph, but not necessarily, it may even be at the end of the paragraph

- ♦ have a body

DEFINITION

the body of a paragraph explains, develops or supports, with evidence, the topic sentence's main idea - it usually consists of supporting ideas

- ♦ be coherent

DEFINITION

supporting ideas must clearly relate to the topic sentence - when sentences are connected or organised in a paragraph, a reader can easily follow a writer's train of thought. A writer can use a variety of coherence devices, such as conjunctions and pronouns, to achieve overall paragraph coherence (conjunctions - join words together; pronouns - connect ideas)

Conjunctions:

As their name implies, conjunctions join together elements of thought - words, phrases, sentences, and paragraphs.

Coordinating conjunctions are the simplest kind, and they denote equality of relationship between the ideas they join. Their relatives, correlative conjunctions, not only denote equality, but they also make the joining tighter and more emphatic.

Coordinating Conjunctions	Correlative Conjunctions
♦ and ♦ but ♦ or ♦ nor ♦ for ♦ so ♦ yet	♦ both . . . and ♦ not only . . . but also ♦ either . . . or ♦ neither . . . nor ♦ whether . . . or ♦ just as . . . so too

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ John and Sally built a fish pond.
- ♦ The train was late, and Tom was tired.
- ♦ Just as the smell of baking brought back memories, so too did the taste of the cider.

Coordinating and correlative conjunctions are great when two ideas are of the same importance, but many times one idea is more important than another. Subordinating conjunctions allow a writer to show which idea is more and which is less important. The idea in the main clause is the more important, while the idea in the subordinate clause (made subordinate by the subordinating conjunction) is less important. The subordinate clause supplies a time, reason, condition, and so on for the main clause.

Subordinating Conjunctions
Time	Reason	Concession	Place	Condition	Manner
after	because	Although	Where	if	as if before	since	though	wherever	unless	as though since	so that	even though		until	how
when	in order that	while		in case
Whenever	why			provided that while				assuming that until				even if
as as . . . as once

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ Sally steamed the corn while Fred fried the steaks.
- ♦ After the rain stopped, the dog ran into the mud to play.
- ♦ The snowman melted because the sun came out.
- ♦ Even though John fell asleep, the telephone salesman kept talking.

Conjunctive adverbs make up an even stronger category of conjunctions. They show logical relationships between two independent sentences, between sections of paragraphs, or between entire paragraphs. Conjunctive adverbs are so emphatic that they should be used sparingly; however, when used appropriately, they can be quite effective.

Conjunctive Adverbs
♦ also ♦ hence ♦ however ♦ still ♦ likewise ♦ otherwise ♦ therefore ♦ conversely ♦ Rather	♦ consequently ♦ furthermore ♦ nevertheless ♦ instead ♦ moreover ♦ then ♦ thus ♦ meanwhile ♦ accordingly

- ♦ If the salmon is grilled, I will have that; otherwise, I might have the chicken.
- ♦ James has a garage full of wood working tools. He might, however, have some metric wrenches, too.
- ♦ I do not recommend that you play with a stick of dynamite lit at both ends. Rather, a ham sandwich would be better for you.

Relative pronouns and relative adjectives are also used to join ideas together by creating adjective or noun clauses, which allow a writer to create smoother, more flowing and effective sentences by combining ideas.

Relative Pronouns and Relative Adjectives
♦ who ♦ whom ♦ whose ♦ whoever ♦ whomever	- which - that - what - whichever - whatever

- ♦ This is the man who sells peanuts.
- ♦ Tell me what you want.
- ♦ Hers is an idea that I would like to think through.
- ♦ The shirts, which are in the laundry, will need ironing.

Adverbs of time, place, and sequence are actually transitions of logic, but as such they also have conjunctive force, because they connect ideas by showing a time relationship.

Adverbs of Time
♦ earlier ♦ next ♦ lastly ♦ later ♦ before ♦ after	♦ then ♦ now ♦ soon ♦ here ♦ there ♦ today	♦ first ♦ second ♦ third ♦ fourth ♦ eventually ♦ tomorrow

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ The twilight glides away. Soon night will awake.
- ♦ First, get a pad and pencil. Next, find a quiet place to think.

Expletives are closely related to conjunctive adverbs. The "official" line on expletives is that they convey no meaning of their own but instead serve only to emphasize the statement to which they are attached. As such, then, they technically do not show a logical relationship like time or cause between ideas, and that fact prevents them from being true-blue conjunctive adverbs. But it could be argued that expletives create a relationship of emphasis between ideas: this new idea is important in light of what preceded it. Indeed, that is why they are included here.

Expletives
♦ of course ♦ indeed ♦ naturally ♦ after all ♦ in short ♦ I hope ♦ at least ♦ remarkably	♦ in fact ♦ I think ♦ it seems ♦ in brief ♦ clearly ♦ I suppose ♦ assuredly ♦ definitely	♦ to be sure ♦ without doubt ♦ for all that ♦ on the whole ♦ in any event ♦ importantly ♦ certainly ♦ naturally

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ The flashlight hit the floor and broke into a hundred pieces. At least there was a candle in the room.
- ♦ They all began to use appropriate expletives in their writing. They were convinced, I suppose, by the excellent examples.
- ♦ The conjunction list has left the building. On the whole, I hope you enjoyed it.

Pronouns:DEFINITION

Pronouns are words that can replace or substitute a noun or a noun phrase.

Pronouns
I	no	these
me	nobody	those
mine	no-one	what
myself	nothing	which some	this	who
any	that	whom you	she	he
it	we	they
my	your	her
his	its	our
their	somebody	all

EXAMPLE:

- ♦ Clutching the coin, Maria ran to the shop. She went straight to the counter and bought the sweets. ("She" replaces the noun 'Maria')
- ♦ The 8-mile walk passes through parkland and woodland. It takes you alongside many points of interest, including a disused airfield. ("It" replaces the noun phrase 'the 8-mile walk')

CONCLUSION!

First and last impressions are important in any part of life, especially in writing. The introduction is what makes the reader want to continue reading your paper. The conclusion is what makes your paper stick in the reader's mind.

The conclusion to any paper is the final impression that can be made. It is the last opportunity to get your point across to the reader and leave the reader feeling as if he or she learned something.

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

STUDY UNIT 3

Draft and edit own writing

LEARNING OUTCOMES

On completion of this study unit the student will....

- ♦ Draft a successful letter, report, task, assignment and or memo.
- ♦ Edit your draft.

1. Drafting is essential!

IMPORTANT

This is because it allows you to put down your initial thoughts and then to refine them into a coherent piece of writing by redrafting until you are satisfied with the completed product.

1. Steps to follow:

- ♦ write down your title (heading) . Make sure you are not misinterpreting your topic
- ♦ decide on the tone of your written work - will it be formal, friendly, demanding, outraged,?
- ♦ choose your tense. The past tense is easiest to use. Do not attempt mixing tenses unless you are very skilled at using the language
- ♦ start with a brief introduction. Write three options and decide which is the strongest
- ♦ divide paragraphs so as to preserve continuity. One event follows another in chronological order
- ♦ build sentences carefully but plainly (less is sometimes more!). Vary the lengths and don't repeat yourself
- ♦ vary types of sentences - statements, descriptive and more complex
- ♦ avoid starting sentences with conjunctions (and, but, so, then, because, well, etc.)
- ♦ watch spelling, punctuation and tenses
- ♦ use all your senses in order to obtain detail
- ♦ end with a conclusion that has impact. The ending is important as it's the last impression you leave your reader with. It must be strong, revealing and conclusive. It is always the final word that counts! It must give satisfaction to you as well as the reader - it must give closure.

2. Editing

DEFINITION

Editing is when you check your essay for mistakes and correct them. No matter how sound your document may be technically, your credibility will be undermined by errors in sentence construction or grammar, word choice and usage, punctuation, mechanics or spelling. Use a ruler and don't make a sudden, hurried sweep, but look for one type of error at a time.

TAKE NOTE

The editing stage goes hand in hand with drafting, as you will see that some of the steps are repeated.

Editing steps to follow:Grammar and spelling

- ♦ check your spelling
- ♦ check your grammar
- ♦ read your written work again
- ♦ make sure each sentence has a subject
- ♦ make sure your subjects and verbs agree with each other
- ♦ check the verb tenses of each sentence
- ♦ make sure that each sentence makes sense

Style and organisation

- ♦ make sure your written work has an introduction, supporting paragraphs, and a summary (closing) paragraph
- ♦ check that you have a thesis (topic) statement that identifies the main idea of the written work
- ♦ check that all your paragraphs follow the proper paragraph format
- ♦ see if your written work is interesting

It is true that prevention is better than cure! Time spent on planning the contents and care taken in formulating your ideas, will help you to make fewer mistakes.

Guard against obfuscation (to darken or perplex), excessive use of jargon (specialized language concerned with a particular subject, culture or profession), jargon used to exclude, insensitive choice of words (gender, rank,) and offensive or incorrect register.

3. Layout

The layout of the written work must be appropriate to the nature and purpose of the task.

Here are some pointers:

margins - all text should be fully justified

Font size: usually size 12. Longer quotations size 10. Main headings size 14 and sub-headings size 13.

Font style: do not use flashy styles. Never mix fonts. Bold can be used for headings, sub-headings and special emphasis. Italics can be used for special emphasis and book/journal/newspaper/film titles, as well as foreign words spacing - use 1.5 spacing for shorter tasks and double spacing for long tasks (this is to make it easier to read). Long quotations (four lines or more), must be single spaced.

Indentation: the two most commonly used methods are:

- ♦ all paragraphs are indented. Do not use block style. Do not leave an empty line between paragraphs.
- ♦ paragraphs are in block style (no indentations). Leave an empty line between paragraphs

Chapter headings: place chapter headings at the top of a new page. Sub-sections, unlike chapters, do not start on a new page, but are separated from the preceding section by an empty line

Quoting: this means reporting someone else's words. Remember to use quotation marks/inverted commas at the beginning and the end of the actual words that were spoken

Write the way you talk: talk to your reader - simply 'talk' on paper

Use ordinary words: here are two points to think about:

- ♦ good professionals use ordinary words, unless they need something more precise!
- ♦ bad amateurs use impressive words all the time, unless they can't think of them!

WORDS/ACRONYMS	EXPLANATION OF ACRONYMS
ASSESSMENT	"A structured process of gathering evidence and making judgments about an individual's performance in relation to registered national standards and qualifications"
ASSESSMENT CRITERIA	It describe the evidence that is needed to show that the learner has demonstrated the outcome correctly. A list of evidence to be supplied by the candidate as proof of his / her ability to integrate all of the competencies listed earlier in the standard.
COMPETENCE	Competence is the ability to do certain things in a range of different environments with knowledge and understanding about what is being done and the effect this has on others. It includes Knowledge, skills, attitudes, values and ethics.
CREDIT	Each unit standard is worth a number of credits which gives an indication of the size and scope of the unit standard, the standard is worth. (1 credit = 10 notional hours of learning)
CRITICAL CROSSFIELD OUTCOMES	critical cross field outcomes is to direct educational activities towards development of the learners within a social and economic environment.
EMBEDDED KNOWLEDGE	Body of theory essential for understanding and applying the standard. Principles, methods and techniques that would underpin good practice of this unit standard.
EVIDENCE	Evidence is a set of information or observations that provides proof of the learner's competence.
FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT	Aims to assist the learner to identify any knowledge/skills gaps when demonstrating his/her current competence. Diagnostic assessment supports learning and progress of the learner.
INTEGRATED ASSESSMENT	Integrated assessment refers to: • assessing a number of outcomes together • assessing a number of assessment criteria together • assessing a number of unit standards together • using a combination of assessment methods and instruments for an outcome/s • collecting naturally occurring evidence in the workplace • Acquiring evidence from other sources such as supervisor's reports, testimonials, portfolio of work previously done, logbooks, journals etc.
LEARNING ASSUMED TO BE IN PLACE	Building blocks (knowledge, skill and understanding) assumed to be in place
LEARNING PROGRAM	A "learning program is a set of learning activities in which the learner will be involved in working towards the achievement of one or more outcomes.
LEVEL	Each unit standard is registered on the NQF at a particular level based on the complexity of the outcomes and stringency of the standards.
NQF	National Qualifications Framework
RANGE STATEMENTS	The range statements indicate detailed requirements of the assessment criteria.

RE-ASSESSMENT	• The same method and instrument may be used, but, the task and materials should be different • The task and materials should, however, be of the same complexity and level as the previous ones. • In case the methods and instruments are changed it must be ensured that they are appropriate for the outcomes specified.
RPL ASSESSMENT	RPL is a way of recognizing what individuals already know and can do. The basic premise underlying it is that people, especially mature adults, learn many things inside and outside the formal structures of education and training and that irrespective of where, how and when learning was acquired, subject to assessment, it can be worthy of recognition and credit.
RPL	Recognition of prior learning
SASSETA	Safety & security sector education and training authority.
SAQA	SOUTH AFRICAN QUALIFICATION AUTHORITY
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES	An outcome is a statement that describes the required competency that must be demonstrated by the learner on successful completion of a training intervention. Key performance areas in the standard are given, the focus is not only on current competence, but also on future competence in this standard.
SUMMATIVE ASSESSMENT	Assessment used to record the level of competence achieved by a learner over a period of time, e.g. at the end of a program, term or year.
QUALIFICATIONS	Represent a planned combination of learning outcomes which has a defined purpose and intended to provide learners with applied competence and a basis for further learning
UNIT STANDARDS	the “building blocks” of qualifications. All qualifications are plotted on the National Qualifications Framework (NQF). “A statement of the outcomes that the learner must achieve to earn credit. Standards are nationally agreed and internationally comparable.”

PURPOSE OF THE UNIT STANDARD

Learners at this level write/present/sign texts with complex subject matter and a need for various levels of formality in language and construction. They select text type, subject matter and language to suit specific audiences, purposes and contexts. Writers/signers can use linguistic structures and features to influence readers/their audience. They draft, redraft and edit own writing/signing to meet the demands of a range of text-types. They use language appropriate to the socio-cultural, learning or workplace/technical environment as required. They explore presentation techniques as an alternative to writing/signing own texts.

Learners credited with this unit standard are able to:

- Write/sign for a specified audience and purpose
- Use language structures and features to produce coherent and cohesive texts for a wide range of contexts
- Draft own writing/signing and edit to improve clarity and correctness

LEARNING ASSUMED TO BE IN PLACE AND RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

The credit calculation is based on the assumption that learners are already competent in terms of the following outcomes or areas of learning when starting to learn towards this unit standard: NQF Level 2 Unit Standard entitled Write/present/sign for a defined context.

UNIT STANDARD RANGE

Controls language patterns and structures and engages with context, purpose and audience.

Specific range statements are provided in the body of the unit standard where they apply to particular specific outcomes or assessment criteria.

UNIT STANDARD OUTCOME HEADER

Specific Outcomes and Assessment Criteria:SPECIFIC OUTCOME 1

Write/sign for a specified audience and purpose.

OUTCOME RANGE

Narrative, discursive, reflective, argumentative, descriptive, expository, transactional, business correspondence, electronic texts, multi-media presentations.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIAASSESSMENT CRITERION 1

The purpose for writing/signing, the target audience and the context are clear in relation to the learning task or activity.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 2

The text-type, style, and register selected are appropriate to audience, purpose and context.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 3

Language appropriate to socio-cultural sensitivities is selected and used in an appropriate manner without compromising own values or arguments.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 4

Writing/signing is well-structured and conveys its message clearly.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 5

Critical thinking skills are used as strategies for planning.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION RANGE

Brainstorming, mind-mapping, using spider diagrams, highlighting

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 6

Writing/signing reflects a clear point of view with sound reasons and facts to support arguments and logical development of a clearly articulated premise.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 7

Research skills are evident in the way data and information relevant to the context is identified, located, selected and synthesised for inclusion in the final text.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION RANGE

Accessing information from different sources, sorting, categorising, classifying, sifting for relevance, validity and reliability, recording, reporting, formulating conclusions

SPECIFIC OUTCOME 2

Use language structures and features to produce coherent and cohesive texts for a wide range of contexts.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIAASSESSMENT CRITERION 1

Meaning is clearly expressed through the use of a range of sentence structures, lengths and types.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 2

The use of paragraph conventions and links between paragraphs in texts, promotes coherence and cohesion in writing/signing. Their use is explained with reference to logical progression, cause and effect and/or contrast.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 3

The overall structure of a piece of writing/signing is controlled and the conclusion is clearly formulated.

SPECIFIC OUTCOME 3

Draft own writing/signing and edit to improve clarity and correctness.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIAASSESSMENT CRITERION 1

Writing/signing produced is appropriate to audience, purpose and context. Corrections are an improvement on the original.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 2

Control of grammar, diction/clarity of sign, sentence and paragraph structure is checked and adapted for consistency.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 3

Logical sequencing of ideas and overall unity are achieved through redrafting.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 4

There is clear evidence that major grammatical and linguistic errors are edited out in redrafts.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 5

Inappropriate or potentially offensive language is identified and adapted/removed.

ASSESSMENT CRITERION RANGE

Obfuscation, excessive use of jargon, jargon used to exclude, insensitive choice of words, (gender, rank, hierarchies in familiar settings or organisations, family, sports, wealth) offensive or incorrect register

ASSESSMENT CRITERION 6

Experimentation with different layouts and options for presentation is appropriate to the nature and purpose of the task.

UNIT STANDARD ACCREDITATION AND MODERATION OPTIONS

Accreditation Options:

- Providers of learning towards this unit standard will need to meet the accreditation requirements of the relevant ETQA.

Moderation Option:

- The moderation requirements of the relevant ETQA must be met in order to award credit to learners for this unit standard.

UNIT STANDARD ESSENTIAL EMBEDDED KNOWLEDGE

The essential embedded knowledge will be assessed through assessment of the specific outcomes in terms of the stipulated assessment criteria.

Learners can understand and explain that languages have certain features and conventions, which can be manipulated. Learners can apply this knowledge and adapt language to suit different contexts, audiences and purposes. Knowledge of formats, conventions, protocols and contexts is acquired through activities used to attain this unit standard.

Learners are unlikely to achieve all the specific outcomes, to the standards described in the assessment criteria, without knowledge of the listed embedded knowledge. This means that for the most part, the possession or lack of the knowledge can be directly inferred from the quality of the learner's performance. Where direct assessment of knowledge is required, assessment criteria have been included in the body of the unit standard.

UNIT STANDARD DEVELOPMENTAL OUTCOME

N/A

UNIT STANDARD LINKAGES

N/A

Critical Cross-field Outcomes (CCFO):

UNIT STANDARD CCFO IDENTIFYING

Identify and solve problems: using context to decode and make meaning individually and in groups in oral, reading/signing and/or written activities.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO WORKING

Work effectively with others and in teams: using interactive speech/sign in activities, discussion and research projects.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO ORGANISING

Organise and manage oneself and one's activities responsibly and effectively through using language.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO COLLECTING

Collect, analyse, organise and critically evaluate information: fundamental to the process of growing language capability across language applications and fields of study.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO COMMUNICATING

Communicate effectively using visual, mathematical and/or language skills: in formal and informal communications in writing/signing.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO SCIENCE

Use science and technology effectively and critically: using technology to access and present texts.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO DEMONSTRATING

Understand the world as a set of inter-related parts of a system: through using language to explore and express links, and exploring a global range of contexts and texts.

UNIT STANDARD CCFO CONTRIBUTING

Contribute to the full development of oneself: by engaging with texts that stimulate awareness and development of life skills and the learning process.

UNIT STANDARD ASSESSOR CRITERIA

Assessors should keep the following general principles in mind when designing and conducting assessments against this unit standard:

- Focus the assessment activities on gathering evidence in terms of the main outcome expressed in the title to ensure assessment is integrated rather than fragmented. Remember we want to declare the person competent in terms of the title. Where assessment at title level is unmanageable, then focus assessment around each specific outcome, or groups of specific outcomes.
- Make sure evidence is gathered across the entire range, wherever it applies. Assessment activities should be as close to the real performance as possible, and where simulations or role-plays are used, there should be supporting evidence to show the learner is able to perform in the real situation.
- Do not focus the assessment activities on each assessment criterion. Rather make sure the assessment activities focus on outcomes and are sufficient to enable evidence to be gathered around all the assessment criteria.
- The assessment criteria provide the specifications against which assessment judgements should be made.

In most cases, knowledge can be inferred from the quality of the performances, but in other cases, knowledge and understanding will have to be tested through questioning techniques. Where this is required, there will be assessment criteria to specify the standard required.

- The task of the assessor is to gather sufficient evidence, of the prescribed type and quality, as specified in this unit standard, that the learner can achieve the outcomes again and again and again. This means assessors will have to judge how many repeat performances are required before they believe the performance is reproducible.
- All assessments should be conducted in line with the following well documented principles of assessment: appropriateness, fairness, manageability, integration into work or learning, validity, direct, authentic, sufficient, systematic, open and consistent

The following particular issues should be taken into consideration when assessing against this unit standard. If it is at all possible, learners should develop multimedia presentations that require the following:

- The combination of text, images, sound and information from multiple sources like TV, videos, Cd-roms, newspapers and magazines, web sites, and digital images;
- The selection of an appropriate medium for each element of the presentation;
- The editing of the presentation in monitoring quality;
- The testing of the audience's response; and
- The undertaking of any revisions that may be necessary to improve it.

UNIT STANDARD NOTES

This unit standard replaces unit standard 8970, "Write texts for a range of communicative contexts", Level 3, 5 credits.

GLOSSARY

Acronym

- A pronounceable word formed from the first letter or letters in a phrase or name e.g. SADTU for South African Democratic Teachers Union .

Additive multilingualism

- A form of bilingual education in which the language of instruction is not the 1st language of the children, and is not intended to replace it. In an additive bilingual education programme the first language is maintained and supported, but the language of learning and teaching is taught alongside it. When the language of instruction is likely to replace the children's first language, this is called subtractive bilingualism.
- Appropriate dress (footnote in u std): solid colour that contrasts your skin colour; appropriate for the context/audience, for example, jewellery.

Audience

The intended reader, listeners, or viewers of a particular text - in planning a piece of writing/signing learners (speakers/signers/writers/presenters) must take into consideration the purpose and audience in choosing an appropriate form of writing/signing.

Author

- The creator or originator of a piece of narrative, whether signed or written.

Coherence

- The underlying logical relationship, which links ideas together. Coherence is to do with ideas and meanings. A paragraph (see definition below) is coherent if all its sentences (see definition below) are connected logically so that they are easy to follow. An essay/signed narrative is coherent if its paragraphs are logically connected and the ideas have a unity, forming a logical whole.

Cohesion

- Linking ideas by means of language (e.g. the grammar or syntax of a sentence or paragraph) and/or use of space, using logical connectors or linking words/signs such as conjunctions, non manual features (see definition below), pronouns to hold a paragraph together and give it a linguistic unity.

Collage

- A form of art in which a variety of materials, such as photographs, fabric, objects, hand-drawn pieces, and printed text, are attached to a surface. Learners can demonstrate their understanding of many themes and issues through the choice of materials and design elements of a collage.

Colloquialism

- A word or expression used in everyday conversation but not in formal language.

Constructed dialogue/role shifting

- Constructed dialogue is when the signer alternately assumes the role of various characters within a story/narrative, using first person perspective. Ways of doing this can include use of space, head movements, eye gaze, body orientation and movements, etc.

Context

- That which precedes or follows a word/sign or text and is essential to its meaning.
- The broader literal, social or cultural environment to which a text (or part of a text) is related and which affects its readers' /viewers' understanding.

Controlling idea

- An important or central concept, theme, or argument that is used to unify a signed, written, oral, or media text.

Conventions

- Accepted practices or rules in the use of language. Some conventions help convey meaning (e.g. use of space, the rules of grammar of a language, punctuation typefaces, capital letters, etc.); others assist in the presentation of content (e.g. use of sign placement, table of contents, headings, footnotes, charts, captions, lists, pictures, index, etc.)

Creative thinking

- The process of thinking about ideas or situations in inventive and unusual ways in order to understand them better and respond to them in a new and constructive manner. Learners think creatively in all subject areas when they imagine, invent, alter, or improve a concept or product.

Critical thinking

- The process of thinking about ideas or situations in order to understand them fully, identify their implications, and/or make a judgement about what is sensible or reasonable to believe or do.

Discourse

- Connected speech or signing or writing which is longer than a conventional sentence; a formal term for a talk, a conversation, or the written/signed treatment of a subject.

Diction

- The choice of words or phrases or signs in speech or writing or signing; the particular words or phrases or signs chosen to express an idea.

Editing

- The process of correcting grammatical, usage, punctuation/non manual features, and spelling errors to ensure that the writing/signing is clear and correct. The editing process also includes checking writing/signing for coherence of ideas and cohesion of structure. In media, editing involves the selection and juxtaposition of sounds and/or images.

Essay/signed narrative

- A prose composition that discusses a subject or makes an argument. This type of writing often presents the writer's/presenter's own ideas on a topic. The SASL equivalent of this would be a signed narrative.

Etymology

- The origin and history of the form and meaning of a word/sign.

Figurative language

- Words or signs or phrases used in a non-literal way to create a desired effect (e.g. simile, personification, metaphor).

Fluency

- The word comes from the flow of a river and suggests a coherence and cohesion that gives language use the quality of being natural, easy to use and easy to interpret.

Foreshadowing

- A device in literature in which an author provides an indication of future events in a plot.

Forms of text

Any particular type of text, having specific and distinctive characteristics arising from its purpose, function, and audience.

- Written/signed forms may include narratives (folklore/short stories/novels/dramas), dialogues, sets of instructions, advertisements, editorials, brochures, manuals, agendas and minutes, diary entries, journals, lists, charts, plays, reports, journals, essays/signed narratives, poems and letters.
- Oral/signed forms may include conversations, debates, seminars, panel discussions, interviews, role play, monologues, prayers, lectures, negotiations, and speeches/presentations

- Visual genres may include photographs, documentaries, travelogues, feature films, soap operas, and cartoons. These can be analysed into more specific genres, for example, feature films could be grouped as westerns, thrillers, dramas, romances, musicals and comedies.

Free verse

- Poetry written/signed without a regular metrical pattern, but based on natural rhythms of speech/signing and free expression rather than on a predetermined form. Free verse may be rhymed or unrhymed.

Genre

- The types or categories into which literary works are grouped (e.g. signed narrative, novel, short story, essay, poetry, drama, or film)

Grammar

- A description of the structure of a language, particularly the way words, signs and phrases are formed and combined to produce sentences. It takes into account the meanings, functions and organisation of these sentences in the system of the language.

Graphic organiser

- A visual representation such as a chart, table, timeline, flowchart, or diagram used to record, analyse, synthesise, and assess information and ideas.

Hyperbole

- A literary device in which exaggeration is used deliberately for effect or emphasis (eg a flood of tears).

Iconicity

- Iconicity as a poetic strategy is the use of signs to represent action/movement, and is often used in conjunction with repetition of parameters and rhythm.

Idiom

- A group of words/signs that, through usage, has taken on a special meaning different from the literal meaning (e.g. "keep your shirt on! Or "It`s raining cats and dogs").

Implicit meaning

- Ideas and concepts that are present but stated indirectly.

Inference

- A conclusion drawn from evidence.

Information processing

- A general term for the process by which information is identified, understood, stored, organised, retrieved, combined and communicated to form new knowledge.

Irony

- A statement or situation that has underlying meaning different from its literal or surface meaning.

Jargon

- A speech, signing or writing used by a group of people who belong to a particular trade, profession, or any other group bound together by mutual interest, e.g. the jargon of law, medical jargon. Jargon is useful when used within a trade or profession, but when it is used to exclude listeners, /readers/viewers from an interaction, it is potentially hurtful or even harmful.

Key questions

- There are five common questions that help discover the essential facts: who, what, where, when, and why? In newspaper reports, it is important to cover these questions at the beginning.

Literary (stylistic) device

- A particular pattern of words/signs, a figure of speech, or a technique used in literature to produce a specific effect (e.g. hand shape repetition, rhythm, rhyme, parallel structure, analogy, comparison, contrast, irony, foreshadowing, simile, metaphor, personification, pun, oxymoron, symbol).

Mind-map

- The preparation of a graphic representation of key words.

Multimedia presentation

- A work that uses a combination of media to present information and ideas (e.g. a presentation using slides, computer graphics, posters, and video clips).

Non verbal language/communication

- Communication without the use of words/signs, which could be done by gestures or could refer to total body language.

Obfuscation

- The deliberate use of words/signs/phrases/jargon/idioms that will not be understood by the listener/reader/viewer. It is a clouding of the issue to avoid taking responsibility for an action or to confuse the listener/viewer into accepting something that should not be lightly accepted

Onomatopoeia

- The use of a word having a sound that echoes its sense (e.g. buzz, hum, bang)

Oxymoron

- A combination of words/signs with contradictory meanings, used deliberately for effect. It is usually formed by using an adjective to qualify a noun with an opposite meaning (e.g. an open secret).

Paragraph(s)

- Where appropriate, 'paragraph (s)' should be read as 'chunks of sign'.

Parameters

- Parameters are the building blocks of signs: handshape, location, movement, palm orientation, and non manual features.

Paraphrase

- A restatement/expression of an idea or text using one's own words/signs.

Point of view

- In fiction, the position of the narrator in relation to the story and audience (e.g. limited/ omniscient/ third-person/first-person narrator or multiple narrators).

Power relations

- When a particular group dominates other groups. This dominance could be related to gender, race, nationality, disability or language groups. In this document, the focus is on how the use of language (the choice of words) indicates a relationship that is neutral, empowered or disempowered.

Reading/viewing strategies

Skills and approaches used before, during and after reading/viewing to determine the meaning and increase understanding of a text. Examples are:

- Scanning: a type of reading/viewing used to locate a particular piece of information without necessarily attending to other parts of a text
- Skimming: a type of reading/viewing used to identify only the main idea or ideas or to pick out any words in capitals/ in italics/underlined, as well as any visuals or font indicators that would help a reader/viewer to understand a passage.
- Sifting: selecting the most important ideas, words, facts or finding only those details relevant to a task or purpose

Register

- Speech/signing variety used by a particular group of people, usually sharing the same occupation or the same interests. A speaker/writer/presenter/signer must choose signs/words/images that are easily understood by the listener/reader/viewer/audience - the pitch must suit the purpose.

Research

- Involves a systematic investigation involving the study of materials and sources in order to establish facts and seek out truth. The following stages are involved: selecting a topics, narrowing the focus, locating appropriate resources, gathering information, analysing material and forming conclusions, presenting the information in written and/or oral/signed form, and documenting the sources of information and ideas.

Rhetorical question

- A question not asked for information but for dramatic effect. The question is usually either one that does not need an answer, as the issue is self-evident, or one that the speaker/signer/writer/presenter proceeds to answer immediately.

Role play

- A dramatic technique in which participants act the part of another character, usually in order to explore the character's thoughts, feelings, and values.

Paragraph (in relation to SASL)

- A paragraph is a coherent and cohesive collection of sentences. Its boundaries may be indicated by manual or non manual devices.

Presenting/signing (also refer to viewing)

- SASL does not have a written form. Therefore, reading and writing/presenting outcomes take on a different form, that is, a receptive and productive competence. For simplicity, the unit standards refer to viewing and presenting respectively.

Sentence (in relation to SASL)

- A sentence is a unit of meaning made up of a collection of signs and non manual features, always including a verb, and adhering to specific grammatical rules of SASL .

Sign devices

- Sign devices are visual strategies used in signed poetry, for example, rhythm, placement, role shifting, and repetition of handshape, location, movement, palm orientation, and non manual features.

Sign parameter

- The building blocks of the sign/word: handshape, location, movement, palm orientation, non-manual sign.

Sign devices

- These include register, non-manual features (NMFs), placement, role-shift, parameter

Slang

- Casual, very informal speech/signing, using expressive but informal words and expressions. Slang is usually related to age or social group rather than to trade or profession (jargon). It is used to stress an identity for those in the know and to exclude those who do not know the terms, for example, words to describe money, grown-ups, police, and activities.

Stylistic devices

- A particular pattern of words, a figure of speech or technique used in literature to produce a specific effect, e.g. rhyme, parallel structures, short or one word sentences, analogies, comparisons, contrasts, irony, foreshadowing, similes, metaphors.

Symbol

- Something that stands for or represents an abstract idea.

Syntax

- The way in which words are arranged to form larger grammatical structures (e.g. phrases, clauses, and sentences).

Technical language

- The terminology used in a field or understood by a trade, profession or group of people e.g. in metal - working, the term "pig" means a mould for casting metal. It differs from jargon in being more generally understood and used, for example, by many people rather than a few and it does not have the negative connotations that the word "jargon" carries.

Text

Texts refer to signed, spoken, written, or visual communications, including sign language that communicates meaning to an audience or reader/viewer. A text may be considered from the point of view of its structure, context and function.

- Spoken/signed texts: May include conversations, speeches/presentations, prayers, and songs,
- Written/signed texts: May include poetry, drama, novels, letters, magazine and newspaper articles, paragraphs, essays/signed narratives, and scripts
- Visual texts: May include photographs, posters, cartoons, advertisements, environmental prints (road signs), maps, diagrams, charts, and films

Tone

- The quality and timbre (distinctive character) of the voice used in speaking; the height of pitch and change of pitch which is associated with the pronunciation of syllables or words and which affects the meaning of the word.

Topic sentence

- The sentence that expresses the central idea in a paragraph. In SASL, repetition of important signs occurs throughout the paragraph to express the topic of the paragraph or a number of paragraphs.

Voice

- In writing: a work's distinctive style of expression, personal or impersonal, conveyed through the author's use of vocabulary, sentence structure, and imagery. In oral/signed communication: the quality of sound produced by a speaker. In grammar: a property of verbs (e.g. active and passive voice).

Writing process

The process involved in producing a polished piece of writing. It comprises several stages. The main stages are:

- Generating ideas
- Choosing a form of writing to suit the topic, purpose and audience
- Developing a plan for writing
- Organising ideas
- Writing and revising drafts
- Editing
- Proofreading
- Producing and publishing

Venn diagram

- Graphs that use circles to present connections and intersections.

Viewing (also referring to signing)

- SASL does not have a written form. Therefore, reading and writing/presenting outcomes take on a different form, that is, a receptive and productive competence. For simplicity, the unit standards refer to viewing and presenting respectively.
