1: Assessors Guide

1. Instructions to Assessor

Introduction:

This assessment guide has been designed as a generic assessment guide and is intended for use by the accredited Security Industry Training Providers.

Purpose of the assessment

The purpose of summative assessment against this unit standard is to:

- ♦ Award credits to the NQF to learners who are able to Handle and defuse security related conflict

Learning assumptions

The following knowledge, skills, attitude and/or equivalent:

- ♦ A knowledge, comprehension and application of language at NQF 02.

Assessment methods

The following assessment methods will be used for the summative assessments:

- ♦ Written and/or/verbal questioning
- ♦ Product sample and on site assessment

2. Assessment Process

General

- ♦ Use the assessment guide and your latest company policies and standard operating procedures to assess the evidence received from the learner.
- ♦ Use the section: Addition Comments/Questions to note down any further comments or questions on the evidence assessed.
- ♦ Use the model answers as a guideline to assess the learner's answers to the assessment questionnaire.
- ♦ The learner can complete the assessment questionnaire orally. In this case, agree a date, time and venue.
- ♦ Provide the learner with a feedback within 10 working days of receiving the evidence.

Step 1 - Planning for the Assessment

Review this assessment guide to:

- ♦ Ensure that you understand all the requirements of the assessment in terms of evidence required to prove competence.
- ♦ Identify and prepare the learner for the assessment by:
 - ⇒ Completing the Assessment Plan with the learner to discuss and agree the details regarding the assessment.
 - ⇒ Completing the Assessment Preparation Checklist and getting the learner to sign.
- ♦ Ensure that you have familiarized yourself with the following:
 - ⇒ Identification of conflict
 - ⇒ Management and handling of conflict
 - ⇒ Workplace procedures
 - ⇒ Report writing

Step 2: Complete the Assessment

- ♦ Collect the evidence in accordance with the methods and evidence requirements specified.
- ♦ Mark each question as correct or incorrect in the “Office Use” column.
- ♦ Record the evidence on the assessment guide and indicate “Competent”, “Not Yet Competent” or “Not Assessed” for each assessment criterion. Note down any comments at the back of the assessment guide.
- ♦ Ask the learner additional questions, if necessary, to clarify points. Record these on the guide.
- ♦ All questions must be complete as per the criteria specified.
- ♦ Answers provided must be similar to the model answers.

Step 3 - After the Assessment

- ♦ Prepare the feedback by writing comprehensive, developmental feedback after each section on the Assignment Sheets. In addition to this, you are required to write a summary overall feedback on the Assessment Guide.
- ♦ Provide the feedback to the learner in a safe, undisturbed in nature.
- ♦ Ensure that your feedback is developmental and supportive in nature.
- ♦ Advise the learner on what action to follow in the event of a “Not Yet Competent” rating.
- ♦ Advise the learner on what action to take where he/she feels the need to appeal against your decision.
- ♦ Allow the learner time to provide you with feedback relevant to the process.
- ♦ Record the learner’s feedback in the guide and ensure that it is given to the person responsible for the quality assurance of assessment tools.
- ♦ Ensure that the learner co-signs the assessment guide to indicate agreement with the feedback.

3. Assessment documentation required:

Step 1: Planning for the Assessment

- ♦ Assessment Plan
- ♦ Assessment Preparation Checklist
- ♦ Assessment Policy (including Appeals)
- ♦ Evidence Matrix
- ♦ Assessment Instruments

Step 2: Conducting the Assessment

- ♦ Assessor Guide
- ♦ Learner's workbook
- ♦ Summative assessment pack

Step 3: After the Assessment

- ♦ Assessment Comments
- ♦ Feedback Report

Specific Instructions

Please note that Part 3 Assessment Instruments are not included in this guide and are to be included by the assessor on an individual basis.

The actual summative assessments need to be completed and signed off by both learner and assessor. The assessor will take control of the completed assessment instruments and will file them under the tab for Assessment Evidence.

The completed assessment pack will be kept in safekeeping at the training provider for three months after endorsement by SASSETA and will then be returned to the learner.

Guidelines where an appeal is lodged

The normal appeal procedure prescribed by SASSETA and described by the provider's Quality Management System will be followed.

3: Assessment Evidence

Assessment Instruments

The assessment instruments included in this assessment pack are all summative assessment instruments and are to be read in conjunction with the formative assessment instruments contained in the learner workbook. Both formative (workbook) and summative assessments are to be retained as part of the learner's portfolio of evidence.

A number of the assessment instruments contained in this assessment are workplace knowledge based questions.

This means that you will arrange with the learner, a time that is suitable, during which the learner will complete each questions.

QUESTION 1: Define the word conflict within the workplace.

Conflict may be defined as a struggle or contest between people with opposing needs, ideas, beliefs, values, or goals. Conflict on teams is inevitable; however, the results of conflict are not predetermined. Conflict might escalate and lead to nonproductive results, or conflict can be beneficially resolved and lead to quality final products.

QUESTION 2: Explain the causes of conflict with a specific reference to power.

Causes or sources of organizational conflict can be many and varied. The most common causes are the following:

- ♦ Scarcity of resources (finance, equipment, facilities, etc)
- ♦ Different attitudes, values or perceptions
- ♦ Disagreements about needs, goals, priorities and interests
- ♦ Poor communication
- ♦ Poor or inadequate organizational structure
- ♦ Lack of teamwork
- ♦ Lack of clarity in roles and responsibilities

Power is the ability or capacity to do something or to control and influence what others do.

QUESTION 3: Identify four types of conflict. Provide a practical example of each.

- ♦ Where potential for conflict exists: In other words where people recognize that lack of resources, diversity of language or culture may possible result in conflict if people are not sensitive to the diversity.
- ♦ Latent conflict where a competitive situation could easily spill over into conflict: At a political rally or in the workplace where there are obvious differences between groups of people.
- ♦ Open conflict: Which can be triggered by an incident and suddenly become real conflict.
- ♦ Aftermath conflict: The situation where a particular problem may have been resolved but the potential for conflict still exists. In fact the potential may be even greater than before, if one person or group perceives itself as being involved in a win-loose situation.

QUESTION 4: Explain the stages of conflict.♦ Pre-conflict

DIFFERENCES: Discussions and differences can be healthy and productive if met with tolerance.

TENSIONS: Views become fixed and people begin to criticize their opponents and view them as the enemy. Differences between the groups get worse. The groups become more divided.

♦ Confrontation

DISPUTES: Neither side will admit that they have made mistakes. They become determined. More extreme positions are taken. Threats are made but not carried out. Supporters may engage in demonstrations or other confrontational behaviour.

♦ Crisis

Peak of conflict with open hostility and/or violence.
Communication between sides often stops.

HOSTILITIES: People become convinced that their views are right. Opponents are mocked, scorned and isolated. Some threats are carried out.

VIOLENCE 'No way back'. 'They must lose'. Force is used, perhaps physical violence.

♦ Outcome

Force may run its course until one party 'wins', another surrenders, a cease-fire is agreed, or all are exhausted. Outsiders may intervene with force to bring violence to a halt.

♦ Post-conflict

End of violent confrontation:

When one side 'wins', it may not lead to positive change. It may create new injustices which could result in confrontation (Stage 2) once again.

♦ Communication channels opened

Both sides agree that a solution is needed. Outsiders may help both sides to communicate. Ways to move forward are established.

♦ Mutual understanding

People come to understand views of others and respect them. The conflicts described (sometimes mapped) to help find possible solutions.

♦ Finding solutions

An approach is found that every-one agrees on, whether this uses the law, customary methods or partnership. Solutions are agreed and acted upon.

♦ Agreement

Everyone agrees. They may agree to keep different views but always accept the views of others. It may be helpful to have a written and signed agreement for future reference.

QUESTION 6: Explain the different management styles to deal with conflict.

Five combinations of these two variables determine five Conflict Management Styles

- ♦ Competitive Style: If you have this style you focus on your interests and you totally neglect the other's interests. You are ready to win at all costs. Relationships are not important for you, just achieving your goal. Means are not important for you, just achieving your goal. You may attack the other person with criticism, put-downs, name-calling or violence.
- ♦ Accommodating Style: This style is the opposite of the Competitive style: you focus on achieving the other's goal and totally neglect your own goal. Relations with the other party are more important than winning. You seek an agreement at almost any cost, offering concessions in order to preserve (or create) a good relationship with the other side.
- ♦ Avoiding Style: If you have this style you have a low focus on goals as well as on relations. You avoid or pretend the conflict does not exist, even if you will not achieve your goals or will damage your relations with the other party.
- ♦ Compromise Style: If you have this style you win something from what you wanted and give-up something else, by dividing and sharing. Of course, you have limits of how much you are willing to give away.
- ♦ Collaborative (Cooperative) Style: If you use this style you give high importance at the same time to goals and relations. Cooperative style involves full and open communication: you are attentive to the other, you are waiting to respond, and you make helpful suggestions. Is the most difficult and time-consuming approach, but has the best results if both parties use this style.

QUESTION 7:

Consider the following short scenarios relating to work and social problems.

Write your answer in the provided space below when you have Answered all scenarios try to identify:

- ♦ Potential reasons for conflict.
- ♦ Your initial reaction and solution.
- ♦ Other information you might require
- ♦ Possible alternative solutions.

Conflict –Scenario 1:

You have been employed as a security officer at the same site for 4 years. You are well respected and do a good job. A new supervisor has recently been appointed whom you have to work with. They are continually re-organising the section, re-prioritizing work which you have allocated and questioning your judgment openly.

Conflict –Scenario 2:

Following a restructuring exercise after loosing a contract of a site you are re-employed. You are now working with 2 other officers who have been working at this site (new) for some time. The staff do not mix, they do not share information and are quietly hostile to each other. The quality of work leaving the site is suffering.

QUESTION 3 (Page 27)
QUESTION 3 (Page 27)
Explain the conflict life cycle by using scenario 1 in question 7

Explain the conflict life cycle by using scenario 1 in learning activity 2.

Conflict escalates from early signs to violence much easier than de-escalates after violence occurred. Very rarely conflicts go from early stages into violent stages suddenly. They are gradually going through stages that can be recognized as steps toward violence.

The early signs are non-verbal, attitudes and behaviors that express parties' disagreements and frustrations. If parties are aware and recognize them, the issues can be discussed, clarified and solved.

If not addressed, the tension rises and parties may express verbally their feelings and positions during disputes. If parties are open to hear each other and communicate effectively, the issues can be discussed, clarified and solved.

If Conflict is not solved the tension may continue to rise. Communication between parties becomes more difficult. Conflict expands involving more issues and more persons or organizations that take the side of one party or the other. Parties become polarized, focused on achieving their own goals and deaf and blind toward the other's goals. They may try again to solve their dispute and sit down at the negotiation table.

If they fail to solve the conflict the situation could worsen. Parties arrive at the level of segregation, when communication is broken, and they cannot anymore talk to each other. In this stage, a third part intervener, mediator, facilitator, arbitrator or judge can help solve the conflict with peaceful means. As we move from mediation toward the judicial system the chance to improve relationships is decreasing. But at least violence is not used to achieve goals.

If peaceful means fail the situation can get more and more tense and the conflict is heading toward violent outbreak. Extremists who are better prepared and organized to fight aggressively for their goals usually grab the leadership. Additional grievances are raised. Parties begin to view each other as less than human, thus not deserving human treatment. Dehumanization makes possible for parties to engage in violence, to hurt each other and to violate the generally accepted norms of behavior regarding one's fellow man

QUESTION 10: Identify and use at least four types of behaviour which will ultimately help and assist you in managing conflict within the workplace.

- ♦ Use "I" statements: Let the other party know how you feel when the conflict is occurring. Let the other person know how you react to the conflict. Let the other person know which of your rights you feel is being ignored in the conflict.
- ♦ Be assertive, not aggressive: Speak about your feelings and your reactions. Keep the statements focused on how you are behaving, thinking, and feeling rather than on how the other is acting.
- ♦ Speak calmly, coolly and rationally: In this way you will be listened to, and you will be able to maintain better control of yourself. Otherwise the other person may be put in a defensive attitude.
- ♦ Avoid blaming: This will keep the communication flow going. It encourages understanding and empathy for each other's feelings. It recognizes that for a conflict to exist there must be at least two parties who are adversely affected by the conflict.
- ♦ Create an atmosphere of healing: In an attempt to heal the wounds resulting from a conflict, all parties involved must feel that they are being listened to and understood; that their rights are being respected. They must feel the desire to work things out and a commitment to the process of working out the problems. They must feel wanted and cared for by the parties involved.
- ♦ Be willing to forgive: Forgiveness is a powerful tool of healing. You have a chance for personal growth by forgiving others for their part in the hurt and pain you suffered. At times, this is the only way to resolve a conflict.
- ♦ Be willing to forget: Once you have "resolved" a conflict and felt like you were listened to, cared for, and understood, then "let go" of the conflict. Once you have implemented an agreed resolution, put aside the conflict. Put it behind you. Get it out of your mind. Forget it. Don't bring it up in the future as if it had not been resolved. If you write down the resolution of the conflict, you will have written proof that it is over and is to be forgotten.
- ♦ Be honest: In resolving a conflict it is imperative that you be honest with yourself and others about your feelings, and reactions to the conflict and to the resolutions. If you are feeling in a way you think you must, or in a way the others wants you to, not "being yourself," then the resolution of the conflict is a false one. The conflict is sure to recur. You gain nothing by being dishonest in the management of conflict. You waste your time and energy and end up feeling failure or guilt rather than growth.

- ♦ Focus on feelings rather than on content: Effective listening and responding are key elements in the productive resolution of conflict. Listen for the feelings and emotions of the other and reflect them with empathy and understanding. This creates an atmosphere of being cared for and listened to. It reduces defensiveness. It focuses on the process involved rather than on the issues, and it brings the parties to a clearer recognition of their individuality and humanity. To focus on feelings clarify the issues, eliminating extraneous items.
- ♦ Show respect for yourself and for others: You will gain more in resolving a conflict by showing respect (honey), than by showing disrespect (vinegar), e.g., being vindictive, taking revenge, threatening, yelling, accusing, belittling, ostracizing, ignoring. If you are on the receiving end of disrespect, remove yourself as soon as possible. When the other has cooled down, perhaps the discussion can be continued in a respectful manner. If you lose your "cool" and become disrespectful, stop as soon as you can by either removing yourself or by silencing yourself. Maintaining a respectful atmosphere is essential in resolving conflict.
- ♦ Be willing to apologize or admit a mistake: It is necessary to admit to one's mistake and to apologize for one's behavior before a stalemate in conflict resolution can be overcome. It takes courage, character, and fortitude to admit an error: a lack of judgment; an uncalled for action; disrespectful behavior; or a lack of caring, concern, or understanding. Stronger relationships can result when such willingness is exhibited.
- ♦ Be willing to compromise: If you cling to your position as the only one to be considered, you are closing out the other person(s). To succeed in resolving conflict, all parties must feel like they have gained in the resolution. In order to resolve a conflict where the opposing parties are at opposite extremes on an issue, there is a need to come to the middle if all are to experience a "winning" posture. Only through compromise can each be a winner in conflict resolution. Without compromise, you have either given in and lost, or have gotten your own way with the other party having lost. Ideally, all parties should feel that they have won.

QUESTION 12: In your own words, explain the recommended behaviour to deal with angry people.

- ♦ ASK FOR A MINUTE TO STOP AND THINK: This will have a calming effect on you and the customer. No one will get angrier at you for asking for time to think things over.
- ♦ KNOW YOUR GOAL: The dinosaur's rules are simple, if attacked, fight back or run away. Either response will make the situation worse. Try instead to help your customer calm down and use the part of the brain that can reason.
- ♦ IF THE OTHER PERSON IS YELLING, don't DO ANYTHING UNTIL YOU GET HIM OR HER TO STOP: Just keeping your own voice soft may do the trick. Saying "Please speak more slowly. I'd like to help," works particularly well on the phone. Have you ever tried to yell slowly? On the phone remember the "Uh-huh" rule. We usually respond with "Uh-huh" when the other person takes a breath. If you go three breaths without saying "Uh-huh" the other person will stop and ask, "Are you there?" Following this technique will allow you to interrupt without saying a word.
- ♦ DO NOT EXPLAIN! Explanations are all too often a disguised form of fighting back or running away. The typical explanation boils down to: "If you know all the facts, you will see that I am right and you are wrong." You cannot be right and effective at the same time. don't even try.
- ♦ LET THE CUSTOMER KNOW YOU HEAR: Before you try to solve the problem, let the customer know that you understand why he or she is upset. This will save you from having to hear it again.
- ♦ ASK, "WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE ME TO DO?" This question is usually the last thing an angry person expects. Hell have to stop and think to answer. This is exactly what you want.
- ♦ NEGOTIATE: It's a lot easier when the customer is using the part of her brain you can negotiate with.

QUESTION 13: During a conflict situation where lots of angry and difficult people awaiting to cause chaos it is important to conduct a threat assessment.

In Your own words explain how would you conduct that threat assessment, and if necessary how would you use necessary force to relief people from the site.

Any suspect potentially can be assaultive and use deadly force. However, approaching every suspect in a high-risk mode (e.g., firearm drawn) would be unreasonable. There can be many articulable facts that support threat assessment.

Some of the facts used in this judgment decision are;

- ♦ Physical actions
- ♦ Suspect statements and/or spontaneous utterances
- ♦ Suspicion level - Some or Mere/Reasonable/Probable Cause
- ♦ Time of day
- ♦ Number of officers/suspects
- ♦ Size & ability of officers/suspects
- ♦ Prior history/Criminal History
- ♦ Officer's experiences
- ♦ Age - Officer vs. Suspect
- ♦ Visible awareness - visible weapons/unusual bulges/unusual nervousness/hands in view
- ♦ Frailness of suspect
- ♦ Physical/mental disability of suspect

Some of the facts above can be aggravating or mitigating.

Before physical action by an aggressor occurs, that individual usually begins to threaten to attack, in an attempt to intimidate the opponent, through a process sometimes called posturing, ritualized combat, or affective aggression.

These “pre-assault indicators” are listed below.

- ♦ Verbal aggression: yelling, swearing, etc.
- ♦ A change in posture: stands taller, sets head and shoulders, moves away/moves closer, points, forms fist and/or loads the arm.
- ♦ Face becomes red, lips separate to show teeth, breathing becomes faster, and perspiration appears on the skin. • Individual ignores others, looks away or stares through people.
- ♦ Creates a false sense of security by becoming very cooperative or acting incapacitated.
- ♦ Aggression redirected to something/someone else, such as breaking pencils, kicking, chairs, yelling at bystanders
- ♦ Individual's stance changes - blades body, lowers center of gravity, shifts weight. Lips become tight as breathing, though still rapid, deepens. The face loses its flush to become pale.
- ♦ Hands tighten, open or closed, arms and shoulders will shift.
- ♦ Individual may bob or rock while shifting eyes to possible targets. Individual may stop all motion in defiance.
- ♦ Head will come down, chin tucked, eyebrows tightened and dropped.
